THE STAR-SPANGLED BANNER

Oh, say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight
O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there.

Oh, say, does that Star-Spangled Banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

On the shore dimly seen through the mists of the deep
Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze, o'er the towering steep,
As it fitfully blows, half conceals, half discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam,
In full glory reflected now shines on the stream.

'Tis the Star-Spangled Banner, oh, long may it wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!

Oh, thus be it ever when free men shall stand
Between their loved homes and the war's desolation!
Blest with vict'ry and peace, may the heav'n-rescued land
Praise the Pow'r that hath made and preserved us a nation.
Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just,
And this be our motto: "In God is our trust."

And the Star-Spangled Banner in triumph shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!

—Frances Scott Key.

"Majestic monarch of the sky
The sign of hope and triumph high."

We pause to salute you!

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

ALMA MATER—ROOSEVELT

Tune: Alma Mater—Cornell

Written by William Evans

Far away we view her glory,
Noble, great, and grand!
She is standing, standing ever,
With an outstretched hand!

CHORUS

Raise the crimson,
Speed it onward,
Make its presence felt,
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater!
Hail, all hail, Roosevelt!

Spires pointing up to Heaven,
As our thoughts should be;
Friends, companions, education,
All we owe to thee!

Then, and now, and e'en forever,
All our love deep felt,
Shall usurp our other feelings,
Praising thee, Roosevelt!

The students of the graduating class of January, 1945, have organized as a class for various reasons: to transact the business of the class; to foster fellowship through class socials; to enable the graduates-to-be to know the other members of the class better through the meetings and through the socials; and to enable them to arrange to have senior pictures in the Bwana so that some twenty years from now, one who may be looking through the yearbook may remember all the students with whom he associated during his high school days. The good times he had at senior meetings with these students will be also called to his mind.

SEVENS

Moderator: Mr. Riley

OFFICERS

	January to June, 1944	Sept., 1944, to Jan., 1945
President:	Jack Smylie	Bob Winters
Vice-President:		Lowell Hake
Secretary:		Helen Sherwin
Treasurer:		Helen Sherwin

We're a strange group of people, we Sevens. But why shouldn't we be strange? These are strange times and many strange things are happening.

How clearly we remember that first day of high school, and how well we remember that we longed and hoped for the day we would graduate. (Allow us to inform you that it isn't such a pleasant feeling as it's "cracked" up to be.)

Let us consider our high school career in comparison to a horse-race. We have finished the first three laps and our long awaited goal is clearly in sight. By the time you have received the Bwana you are now reading, we shall be pounding down the home stretch. Our race is almost finished, but during the last stretch is when we really "pour on the steam".

Have we Sevens any hopes or aims? We'll say we have! We want to do things. We hope to do things for our school, Roosevelt, that have never been equaled. We aim to win the respect of the faculty, students, and everyone else connected with our school. We hope to leave a high mark of achievement that will be hard to equal.

Some of our boys and girls are in the armed forces of our country, so they are not here to share our hopes and aims with us. But they, as well as we, also have a purpose in life. Yes, all of us together are going to do things in this old world. Watch our steam!

After much thought, we have come to the conclusion that everything good about Bwana has already been said in previous editions.

Ever since the first publication of the Bwana in 1925, the moderators, editors, and staff members have worked diligently each year to produce a year book that will live up to the expectations of the students. This year is no exception. The work put into the Bwana is done with the same skill that Teddy Roosevelt, for whom the yearbook is named, showed on an expedition in Africa.

This year, as before, your Bwana is offered to you not only as entertaining reading material, but also as a book of memories to be opened in the years to come. It is a revival of the past; a re-living of those days very dear to you, and even dearer to those boys and girls on the fighting front. We are proud of the Bwana, and we know that you feel as we do.

A'CAPPELLA CHOIR

Moderator: Miss Hilb

OFFICERS

President:	John Cox
Vice-President:	Dorothy Davis
Secretary:	Jean Huff
Treasurer:	Martha Huff

The A'Cappella Choir is a group of boys and girls who arrive at school at eight o'clock every morning. Most of the students do not receive credit, but come only for the pleasure of singing. There are eighty-seven boys and girls in the choir. The A'Cappella Choir is considered by Miss Hilb to be the performance group.

Besides singing for their own pleasure, they have many interesting activities outside of school. They have had the pleasure of singing at various interesting places, among which is the U. S. O. downtown.

BOYS' BOWLING

Moderator: Mr. Griggs

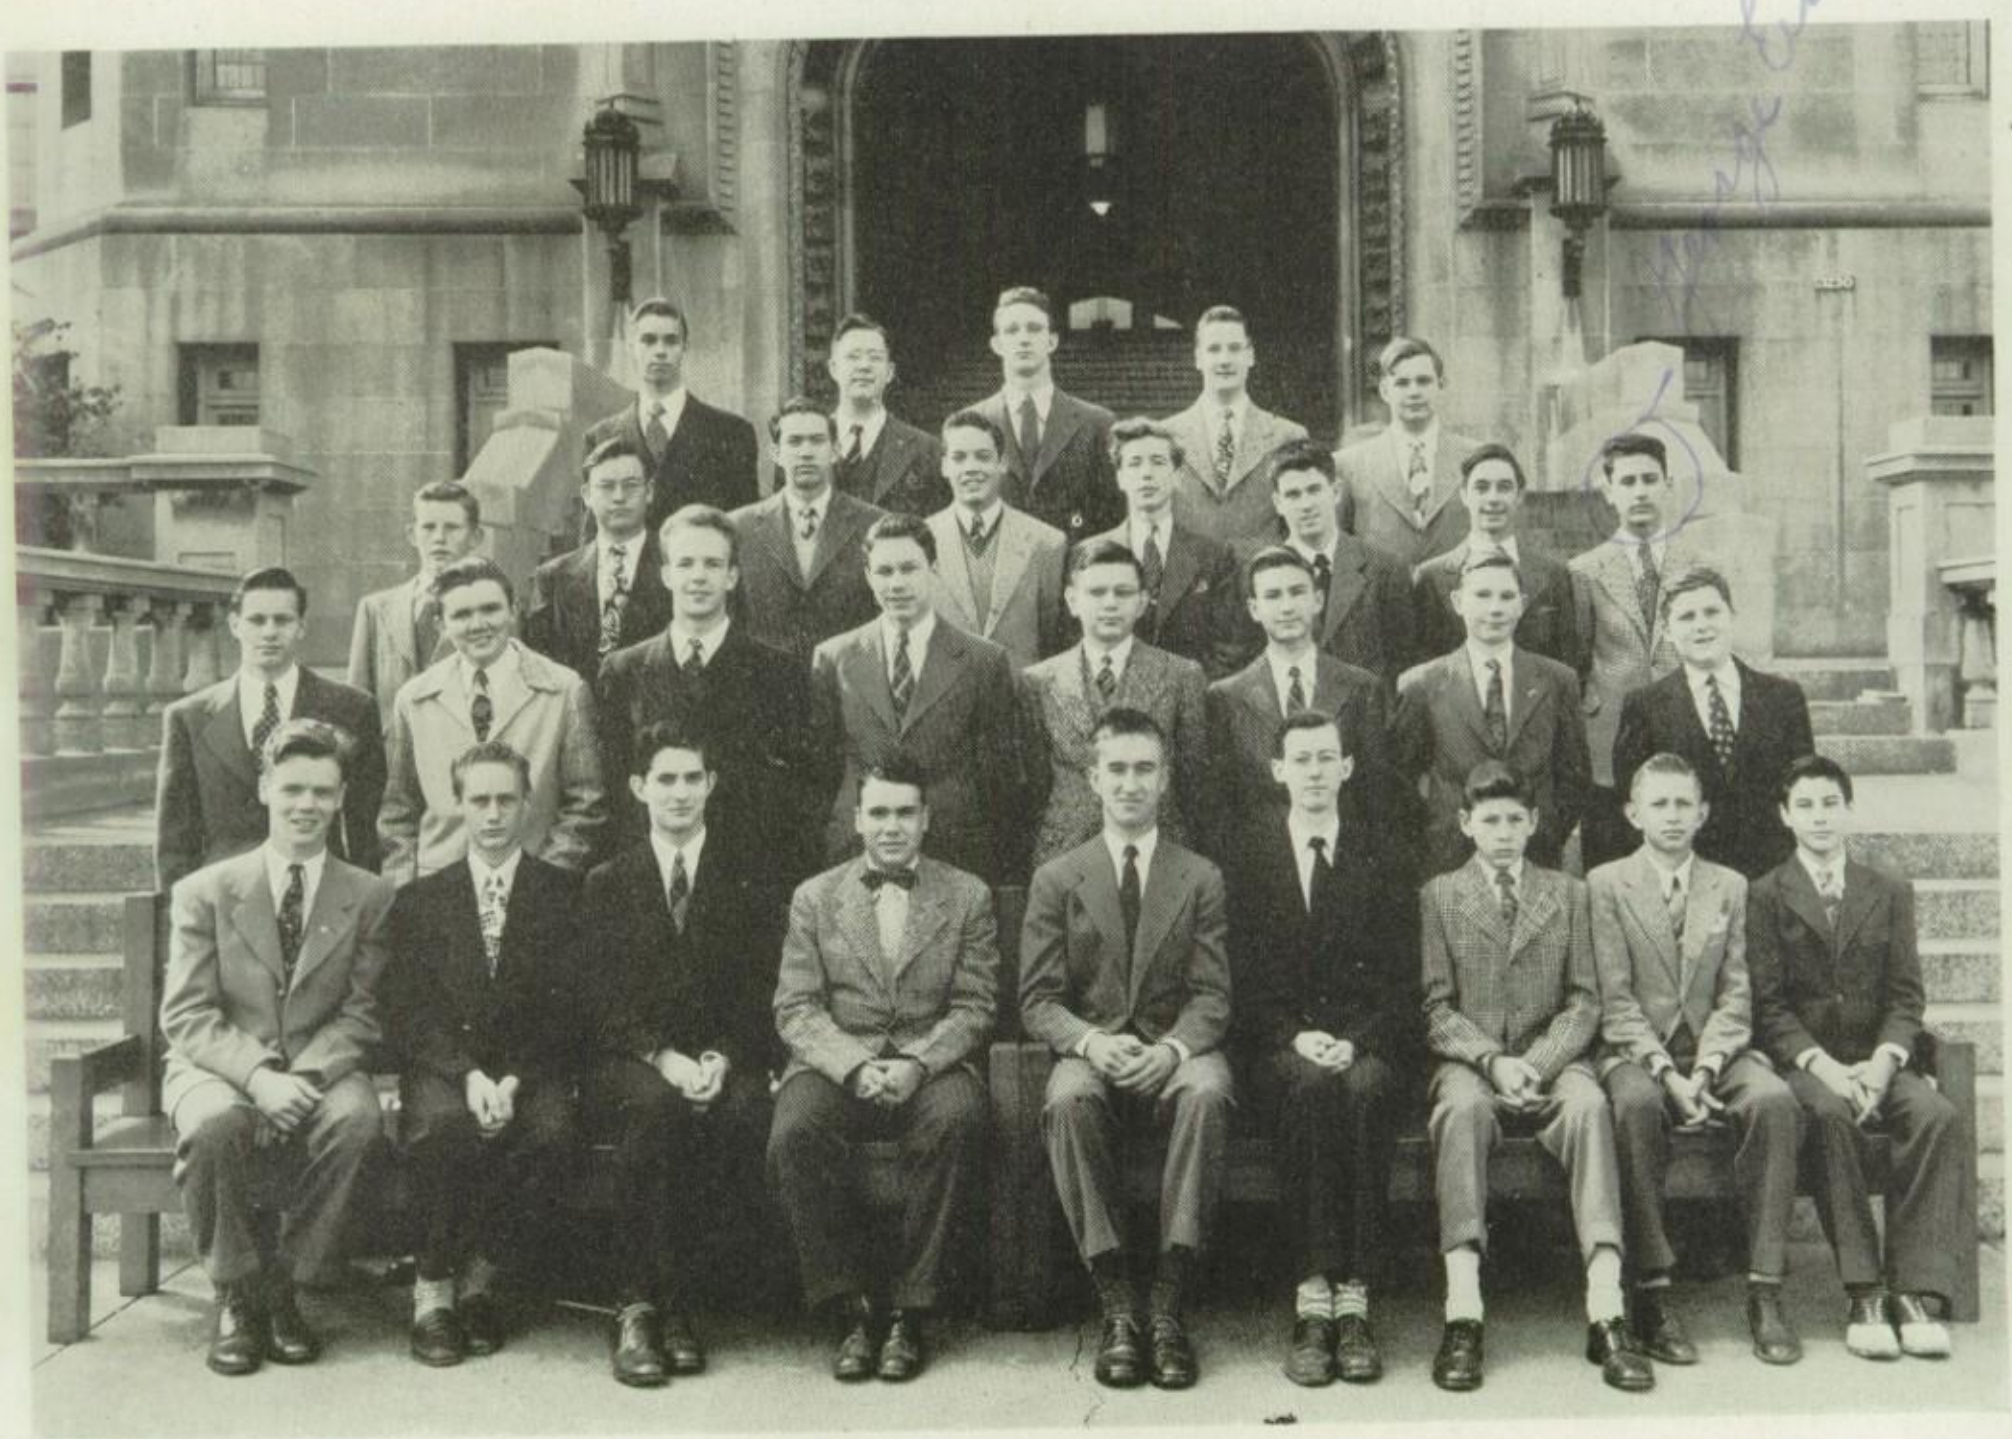
OFFICERS

	Jan. to June, 1944	Sept., 1944, to Jan., 1945
President:	Jim Upchurch	Bill Cissell
Secretary }	Bill Cissell	Marvin Mueller
Treasurer }		Ed Wilson

The Boys' Bowling Club is organized each term to provide outside recreation for students. The club is made up of four teams which bowl every Tuesday at a neighborhood bowling alley.

This war year the club has managed to survive despite the pinboy shortage. A plan was worked out whereby a bowler would set pins for his own team, alternating each week.

Bowling has come a long way since the twelfth century tenpin games in England. It is the wish of the bowling club that the sport become even more popular.



BOYS' GLEE CLUB

Moderator: Miss Hilb

OFFICERS

President:	Tom Hooss
Vice-President:	Walter Lanham
Secretary:	John Cox
Treasurer:	William Lyles

The goal of these thirty-three boys, under the able direction of Miss Birdie Hilb, is to further their scope of music appreciation not only from a classical standpoint, but also in the popular field. This group's repertoire of the various types of music enables it to participate not only in programs of the religious nature, but in activities calling for gaiety and rousing spirit of good will.

BRAHMS CLASS

Moderator: Mr. Eugene Hahnel

Johannes Brahms Class was named for Brahms who was born in Hamburg, Germany, in 1833. He is considered one of the three greatest composers. Bach, Beethoven, and Brahms are considered epoch makers, and belong to the school of pure music. In other words, they are the greatest classicists.

The class decided to donate a volume of Brahms compositions to the school library. We enjoyed the lessons in music appreciation, especially those records on American music left by preceding classes.

Our class has enjoyed many social activities outside of school hours. Some were strenuous and others just a lot of fun. On one occasion preceding a horseback ride, Mr. Hahnel tried to entice us into a "hide and seek game," but he fell into two feet of water and we had no game.

CAROL CLUB

Moderator: Miss Hilb

OFFICERS

President:	Dorothy Davis
Vice-President:	Katherine Krnich
Secretary:	Martha Huff
Treasurer:	Jean Huff

Carol Club is a group of ninety-six girls, who meet every day, the second period, for the purpose of practicing exquisite music which is to be presented before the public. Every member strives to attain the highest achievement in concentration, enthusiasm, tone quality, and blend. However, despite the fine effort on the part of the girls, we could never attain what we consider one of the finest girls' glee clubs in the country without the help and experienced direction of Miss Hilb. It is to be noted that, regardless of the fact that we are all high school students and must compete with adults in girls' choir singing, we sing some of the most difficult music in the women's voices repertoire, including the complicated works of Brahms, Sullivan, Carpenter, Schubert, and Victor Herbert.

A game that will provide ample excitement, a mental workout and relaxation for the intellectual student as well as the pleasure-seeker is chess. The Roosevelt Chess Club was organized in 1929, and since then it has produced players who have ranked high in city, state, and national tournaments.

In order to become a member of the Chess Club it is not necessary to know how to play the game. The older members of the club will teach the game to anyone who has a sincere desire to learn it. During the school year many tournaments are held between Roosevelt and other high schools throughout the city.

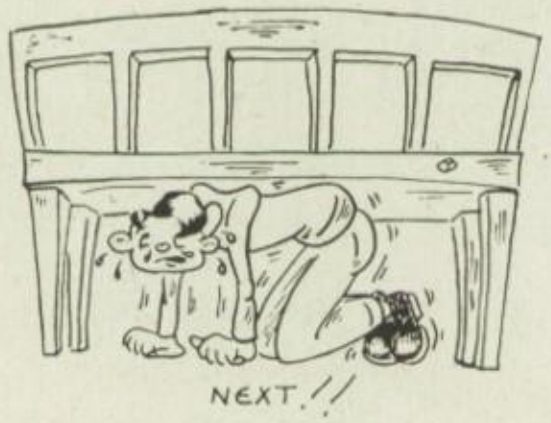
DEBATING

Moderators: Mr. Snider and Mr. Schmale

Debating is one phase of interscholastic competition. Mr. Snider and Mr. Schmale are acting as sponsors of Roosevelt Debating Club. Debates are held at the various high schools about once a week from November to March. By way of preparation, weekly meetings are held with the sponsors, at which trial speeches are made and rebuttal tactics worked out. Debates are held under auspices of the St. Louis High School Debating League, membership in which is open to all high schools, both public and private, in the city. This league also is a subdivision of the Missouri State Debating League, and all debates are credited on the state schedule. Outstanding debaters are rewarded with a debate R.



GYM ART GUILD

Sponsor: Coach G. E. Neeb—Work is done on call

President: William Seelig

Perhaps you have noticed at various times the display advertisements in the first floor corridor. The purpose of the Gym Art Guild is to make posters that will help advertise the athletic activities of the school; such as football, basketball, track, swimming, and baseball. The G. A. G. also makes posters for activities of the school that are not athletic: operettas, special entertainments, and Open House. These posters not only announce coming events, but are also a big boost to ticket sales.

For many years the Ice Skating Club has been one of the most popular clubs at school. Everyone interested in skating, from the beginner to the expert, joins. We members do everything from just regular skating to racing or figure skating.

The club meets every second and fourth Friday at the Winter Garden, and very few members ever miss a skating day. The Winter Garden issues to our club a special pass which entitles the bearer to skate on Friday afternoons at a reduced rate.

All boys and girls interested in ice skating are invited to join. It makes no difference whether you are just learning or if you are an expert. All are welcome. Wouldn't you like to join us?

The purpose of this class is to give daily instruction on any string, woodwind or brass instrument, and to encourage musical talent, which has not had the opportunity to develop.

They start from the very beginning of reading notes and note values, simple rhythmic exercises until pupils are able to play pieces. Then they form small ensemble groups and, finally, an elementary orchestra or band is formed.

This second period class has arrived at the distinction of Junior Orchestra. Early in November they combined with the Senior Orchestra for an Open House Program.

OFFICERS

President:	Harry Marley

The Johann Strauss Class was organized this fall by Mr. Hahnel to honor a great composer of beautiful dance music.

Strauss was born in Vienna, in 1804. He is only one of a very musical family. He was a viola player before venturing into the field of composition. Finally, he was appointed Royal Court Musician for the Royal Family of Austria. As its musical conductor he was required to play for all royal balls. His waltzes are world famous; the first and one of the greatest waltzes is the "Blue Danube."

The class have donated to the school library an album of Strauss waltzes.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

Moderator: Miss J. Fruin

OFFICERS

	Jan. to June, 1944	Sept., 1944, to Jan., 1945
President:	Grace Yesley	Jean Stevens
Vice-President:	Vercile Schmidt	Iris Zelle
Secretary:	Anna Mae Hildebrand	Vercile Schmidt
Treasurer:	Jean Stevens	Harriet Koutsoumpas

The Junior Red Cross Club held its first meeting in October, 1941. Miss Fruin, who supervised its organization, is the moderator.

During these times the American Junior Red Cross is doing a fine job helping the Armed Forces. Our club has worked for them, and many useful articles have been made, such as handy kits and wash cloths. Last Christmas, we sponsored a collection of gift stockings which were filled by the students of Roosevelt. These handy remembrances were sent overseas to the service-men.

Last spring, a paper collection throughout the school was sponsored by the club. The funds obtained will be used to purchase Red Cross material for useful articles to be made by the club.

Several other groups and clubs in the school are assisting Junior Red Cross with this fine work.

Lots of Luck,

KNIT WITS

Moderator: Miss N. L. Binnington

OFFICERS

	Jan. to June, 1944	Sept., 1944, to Jan., 1945
President:	Charlotte Tachman	Jeanne Glennen
Vice-President:	Betty Schloesser	Betty Lou Brown
Secretary:	Elise Wilcutt	Doris Deuchert
Treasurer:	Ruth Hammers	Betty Dunard

The Knit Wits was organized several years ago by a group of girls under the guidance of Miss Binnington. The purpose of the Knit Wits is to teach the girls to knit for their own use and for others. As their contribution to the war effort, the members of the Knit Wits have knitted afghans, sweaters, scarfs, gloves, and baby layettes. The club meets every other Wednesday in Room 212. Enjoyable socials are also planned and held by the club. The dues of the club are small. Girls of all terms are eligible to join.

MASK AND BUSKIN

The purpose of the club is to stimulate interest in acting and play appreciation. Sometimes short plays are given and directed by members at the meetings, and other programs pertaining to the theatre are presented. It is hoped that the club will live up to the prestige and interest enjoyed before.

Meetings are held on the second and fourth Tuesdays in 233.

President:	Bill Butler
Vice-President:	Lorraine Iadreschi
Secretary:	Mary Sparks
Treasurer:	Melvin Doernhoefer
Sergeant-at-Arms:	Jim Skiles
Librarian:	Harriet Kolocotroni

Until two years ago there was a very fine Dramatics Club at our school. For ten years Mask and Buskin had been the organization one joined if interested and talented in the field of dramatics, and among the names on the roll call were to be found those of many of the best and most popular students that ever attended Roosevelt High. Then, after the fall-winter term of 1942, the society was disbanded. The Journal, containing the Constitution, minutes of all previous meetings, and membership lists were left with Mr. Biegelsen, who was the last moderator.

This term a small group of students interested in reviving the club consulted with Mr. Biegelsen, received the Journal from him, and went to work to draw up a petition to present to Mr. Hill. Finding students to sign was no task whatsoever, and when the paper was given to the principal, he heartily endorsed it. The next job was to find a moderator, and Miss Charity Grace seemed the most logical person to ask. She consented to help this term. Several short meetings of the charter members were held, officers were elected, and announcements of the reorganization were made. The first two meetings were partially given over to try-outs for other members, and Roosevelt's Mask and Buskin is functioning again.

Pepettes was first organized in March, 1941. In this club, the girls are being prepared for future membership in Pep R. They receive points for participation in the activities of the school and when they are "third termers" they are voted into Pep R. Pepettes have had many successful socials such as wiener roasts, hikes, and other pleasant meetings. Last term, in order to help the war effort, Pepettes began Red Cross work. They not only helped the war, but had loads of fun making useful articles. Pepettes help to keep the school spirit high and lead our boys to victory.

PEP R

Moderator: Miss Schnaedelbach

President:	Mary Lou Kessler	Ruth Mann
Vice-President:	Ruth Mann	Lois Arkebaur
Secretary:	Lois Arkebaur	Margaret Moehlenbrock
Treasurer:	Beverly Borntraeger	Harriet Hoadley

The purpose of Pep R is to further the interest of students in school activities as well as to sell tickets for various games and dances. Pep R gives three dances each year, the "Hello Day Dance" at which everyone is entitled to speak to everyone else; the "Bwana Day Dance" where everyone gets his Bwana signed; and the "Track Dance." Besides the Track Dance, Pep R is in charge of the crowning of the track queen and maids before field day. Twice a year the members of Pep R give a social for themselves. It is usually a wiener roast, a hike, or a swimming party.

PROJECTION GROUP

This energentic, hard-working group of students under the able direction of Miss Cutter, is doing its very best to co-operate with the teachers of Roosevelt High School in an effort to help clarify academic subjects for the students.

Each boy or girl in the group devotes one period or more every day to projection. Before a student may join the group, he is required to have good grades, to have a record of reliability, and to serve a probationary period, during which he is trained in the use of the machines by an experienced operator.

Picture projection has perhaps been most useful to the science, social, home economics, and health departments. During last term, we used 246 films, attended by 981 classes, in 899 projections.

We are fortunate in having the use of two sound machines, two silent machines, and a film strip projector. We have one room that is set aside for projection, and a second room that we use frequently. We regret the loss of our big screen in the auditorium by fire, and hope it will soon be replaced. In the meantime, we are using a smaller screen to good advantage.

The Roosevelt Auxiliary Emergency Service, better known as the Girls' Drill Corps, was formed late in the January-June semester of 1943. The purpose of this organization is to be of service when needed. The group meets every Tuesday after school either for regular drill or for the learning of Morse code, map-reading, or anything that would be of interest at this time.

The girls' activities have included hikes, wiener-roasts, and parades on Armistice Day, Memorial Day, and Clean-Up Day. All these activities have helped to give the R. A. E. S. a well-rounded and interesting program.

The Roosevelt R. O. T. C. (Reserve Officers' Training Corps) was organized January 14, 1942, by Washington University officers with the cooperation of Mr. Lorenzen. The purpose of the corps is to give to the student an opportunity to acquaint himself with military drill and tactics.

This organization participates in raising the flag, serving as fire wardens, and taking part in many auditorium sessions.

The corps meets on Mondays and Thursdays after school. Its headquarters are located in Room 401.

At present there are eleven men from our corps in our country's armed forces. Two former members, Corporal W. Froelker and Private E. Gillerstrom, have made the supreme sacrifice.

SCHOOL OF THE AIR ROUND TABLE

Moderator: Miss O. Solfronk

On Friday, October 13, 1944, five Roosevelt students broadcast a round-table discussion on the subject, "United for Victory." The program was heard from 2:30 to 3:00 P. M. over KMOX, and was the initial broadcast in the 1944-1945 series, "This Living World."

Mary Anderson, Bill Butler, Mary Ellis, Jack Ewing, and Joe Waldner gave an excellent discussion, which centered around cooperation between the United Nations, evidencing understanding of the great problems involved in winning the war and the peace.

We have a larger and better balanced band this year. Fortunately, our clarinet section has been augmented from four to sixteen players, the bass section from one to four trombones and two tuba players.

The band plays for all scheduled football games as well as for auditorium sessions, "Clean Up", "Memorial Day", "Armistice Day", and Field Day parade.

Many former members now in the services have come back and expressed their appreciation for the many letters sent them. We wish to honor them by having them listed in our year book. The list is not complete but we hope none will feel hurt if his name is omitted.

SENIOR ORCHESTRA

The purpose of Senior Orchestra is to play orchestral music to give pleasure to the listener as well as to ourselves. To do this, it is necessary to develop skills in playing, to play beautifully and to work together as though we were one grand instrument. Every type of music is played: symphonies, overtures, dances, and various other types.

Our library has a rich repertoire of mastepieces, with enough variety to keep our interest. Chamber music ensembles are encouraged and many evenings we enjoy the hospitality of Mr. Hahnel in his home.

Solo playing before the group gives the individual extra points for the Roosevelt letter in instrumental activities. We go horseback riding, bowling, and have roller skating parties by way of diversion.

Life-long friendships are made, and many old members come back to tell us how much they miss the rehearsals and comradeship of dear old Roosevelt High School Orchestra.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council meets during the third period on Thursday morning to discuss and work out the problems of the students and the school as a whole.

The Council is composed of representatives, one from each advisory group, who must be at least a "five" in term and have certain academic qualifications. These representatives bring the students' problems to the rest of the Council members for discussion. Proposals for remedying these problems are voted upon by the Council members. The representative then carries back to his advisory an account of the meeting and its proceedings.

The Student Council is presided over by the Mayor of Roosevelt, who is elected by the student body.

The business and problems of the school as a whole are taken care of by the Athletic, Social, Finance, Public Relations, Property and Citizenship Committees.

The Student Council is under the sponsorship of Miss Ewers. It is an honor for any student to be elected to the organization as his advisory's representative.

The Tschaikowsky class, which meets Mondays and Wednesdays, third period, organized this term, was named in honor of Peter Ilyitch Tschaikowsky who ranks as the greatest composer that Russia has produced.

At first he studied law and secured a place in the Russian Ministry of Justice, but he soon resigned to study music under Rubenstein at Moscow Conservatory. Later he was elected to be a teacher of harmony at the same school, and still later devoted himself entirely to composition and travel.

He composed symphonies, concertos, overtures, quartets and songs. The famous "Symphony Pathetique" is one of the world's most popular compositions.

WAR ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE

The War Activities Committee has been in existence since the early days of the war. Its chief purposes have been to organize and co-ordinate the various war activities of the pupils within the school. The committee has representatives from the faculty and the student body, and its duties are distributed among both groups.

Among the activities which it sponsors are the two drill organizations, the R. A. E. S. for the girls and the Provisional R. O. T. C. for the boys; the work of the Junior Red Cross; the publicity and the keeping of the records for the sale of war stamps and bonds, for the bond sales thermometer, and for the School-at-War Flag; the making of the school Honor Roll of students in the various branches of service. The special auditorium sessions for stimulating bond sales, and the various display charts and publicity for war activities through posters, bulletins, and the Rough Rider are some of the constant duties of the committee.

WAR STAMP AND BOND STAFF

Roosevelt High's Bond and Stamp Staff, ably directed by Mr. O. R. Forsman, receives orders from all eighty-one advisories. They count the money, prepare it for the bank, and make out the total stamp and bond orders. Records are kept of all transactions made.

From March, 1942, until June, 1944, the Staff handled $411,261.90 in stamps and bonds. Only $83,034.20 were bank credits.

THE ROOSEVELT COACHING STAFF

Roosevelt High is indeed fortunate in having an excellent coaching staff.

There have been no major changes in the past year. Coach Otto Rost, assisted by Mr. Van Reen, continues to develop first-rate football teams. The sub-varsity football squad is coached by Mr. Van Reen, assisted by Mr. Kuntz and Mr. Linhart. The varsity basketball team is also under the guidance of Mr. Rost who is assisted by Coach Van Reen of the "B" squad.

Mr. Van Reen, assisted by Mr. Kuntz, directs the Rough Rider track team.

As in the past, baseball is coached by Mr. Carlson; Mr. Linhart takes charge of swimming; Mr. Lorenzen continues as tennis coach.

Of course, we must give credit to Mr. Neeb who ably remains head of the athletic department.

With such capable men to direct the athletic activities at Roosevelt, we may look forward to many new victories and honors in the field of athletics.

1943-1944 BASKETBALL SEASON

Last year's Rough Rider basketball team, trained by Coach Rost, led Norman Ullrich as captain, fought its way to third place in the Public High School League. The boys also entered the Normandy Consolation Tournament in which they were successful and brought a championship to Roosevelt High.

Of last year's team only four lettermen are returning and one of those is here for only half a year; they are: Captain Eddie Hoffmeister, Paul Hammermeister (one-half year), Don Taylor, and Wayne Fledderman. So with four lettermen, boys from last year's team, and new prospects, Coach Rost hopes to bring home a Public High School Basketball League Championship to Roosevelt High School.

TENNIS—1944

The season of 1944 was not so successful for the Roosevelt tennis team as everyone hoped that it would be; but the team proved that the members could be depended upon to put up a good battle and to be considered a threat at all times. Roosevelt ended the season in fifth place in the Public High School League, winning fifteen games and dropping the same number of matches.

The members of the team are as follows:

No. 1 and Captain—Alex Van Der Tuin.
No. 2—Lowell Hake.
No. 3—Charles Hilf.
Doubles—Russell Hoffmeyer and Evan Ramsdale.
Alternate—Conrad Fassold.

Members of the team meriting special recognition are the doubles team of Hoffmeyer and Ramsdale, who finished second among the doubles teams of the city. Charles Hilf is also to be commended for his outstanding individual play.

Roosevelt congratulates and points with pride to the 1944 tennis team. It is not always how much we win that counts, but the enthusiasm which we show.

SWIMMING

Moderator: C. I. Linhart

OFFICERS

	Jan. to June, 1944	Sept., 1944, to Jan., 1945
Captain:	Robert Maurer	William Rice

The swimming team usually begins practice after school hours about the first of October and continues until about the first week of March. The boys meet between the hours of three and five o'clock. During the interscholastic swimming season, our team meets the other city high school swimming teams in dual meets after which all the high school swim teams terminate the season with the Annual Interscholastic Swimming Meet. This City Meet is held during the latter part of February. Immediately following the City Meet the boys vie for a place in the State Championship Contest sponsored by the Missouri State High School Athletic Association. This takes place in early March.

Roosevelt urges all boys to learn to swim well because swimming ability is a very cheap form of life insurance; it is an undisputedly healthful, all-around form of exercise that can be continued when the body is unfit for many other forms of exercise. Swimming is one of the first vital requirements requested by our armed forces. Many of our former swimming team members are now instructors of swimming for Uncle Sam. Is that an indication of the importance of swimming as a sport?

Our team represents those boys who became interested in advanced swimming and who will go out to promote swimming as an exercise and a sport throughout their lives. The competition they engage in while members of the team is an incentive to more perfect performance through a more rigid training regime.

Hats off to the swimming team for a splendid performance! The Roosevelt Paddlers won their second consecutive state meet. A total of 41 points were made; Blewett coming in second, made 25. Through the able guidance and supervision of the swimming team's new coach, Mr. Linhart, the team won the Public High School League title, the City Championship, and the Missouri State High Championship. All of the Public High School dual meets and all except two telegraphic meets, which were lost to Des Moines and Clinton, Iowa, were won by the Roosevelt swimmers. Much of the credit in winning the state championship lies in Mr. Linhart's ability to arrange these telegraphic meets. Mr. Linhart selected some of the better schools in the country for these meets. By doing this, our team had to work hard in order to win and thus prepared our team for the all-important State meet. Members of the team winning their letter or stripe this year are: Captain Bill Moehlenbrock, Bob Carroll, Don Fleming, Bob Kraehe, Bob Maurer, Lew Turner, Bob Collins, Don Herman, Bill Jostes, Bill Kleybocker, Dick Krachenberg, Richard Newman, Jack Nolte, Bill Rice, Don Traub, George Wendel, and Joe Crouch.

Roosevelt's results in the State meet were:

50-yard free style—Carroll, fourth; Traub, fifth.
100-yard breast stroke—Kraehe, third; Nolte, fifth.
200-yard free style—Maurer, first (record time); Rice, third.
100-yard back stroke—Moehlenbrock, second.
100-yard free style—Newman, fifth.
Diving—Turner, second.
150-yard medley relay—Moehlenbrock, Nolte, Herman, second.
200-yard free style relay—Traub, Newman, Carroll, Maurer, second.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

What's your favorite sport or game, Miss Rough Rider? Pick one from the many, and you will probably find people playing it at Roosevelt High School.

We have a volley-ball club composed of teams which compete against each other. The girls play in the gym on cold or rainy days and on the outdoor courts in good weather. Volley-ball is a very popular game at Roosevelt, probably because of the high spirit of team play and of competition.

One afternoon a week basketball is played. Here is an opportunity to learn a very popular game which is not played in gym classes.

Then, in our own well-constructed pool, the swimming club meets. Here you can improve and perfect your stroke under expert instruction.

This year softball teams have been formed and games played during the spring season.

Other sports and games are offered in our regular gym periods. As a special treat, there is an annual Play Day.

Our capable gym teachers present a full and varied athletic program. Every girl in Roosevelt is invited to participate. So—again we say, name your sport—then play!

JANE KENNEALY

PLAY DAY

Thursday, May 25, dawned bright and sunny. Almost one hundred Roosevelt girls eagerly looked forward to another afternoon of their favorite outdoor sport; volley-ball, softball, tennis, or horse-shoes.

At two-thirty in the afternoon the skies became overcast, and rain threatened. Nevertheless, the enthusiastic girls hurriedly left their seventh period classes to don their gym suits and start to play.

The rain came, not in torrents, but hard enough to make the most optimistic girl give up hope of going out on the fields and tennis courts. The weather, however, did not dampen anyone's spirits. Under the direction of Miss Varian, teams immediately formed and went into action. Some of the girls played volley-ball in the gyms. These games were well contested, even those who had not signed up for volley-ball enjoyed them. Others climbed and swung on the poles and ladders in the girls' gym. Still others played tennis against the walls. The equipment had recently been repaired and was novel enough to interest everyone. Later Miss Fager played the piano while the girls danced.

Then came the traditional climax to another enjoyable Play Day—the ice-cream! This year the girls gathered together in the lunch-room for the refreshments.

Everyone had a fine time as they always do on Play Day and were grateful to Miss Varian and the other gym teachers for carrying out the event successfully despite the bad weather.

BASEBALL

The 1944 baseball season was not so successful for the Rough Riders as we hoped it would be, but Coach Carlson's boys proved that they had the fighting spirit. The coach was faced with the task of organizing an almost entire new team as only a few lettermen returned from the 1943 squad.

The Riders opened their season on April 5, and in an exhibition game with University City, pounded out a 4-1 victory. Results of other exhibition games are as follows:

St. Louis University High	4	Roosevelt	3
University City	7	Roosevelt	1
East St. Louis	2	Roosevelt	1
Webster Groves	7	Roosevelt	1
Kirkwood	5	Roosevelt	1
Roosevelt	3	St. Louis University	1

In league competition the Roosevelt boys had trouble getting started. They failed to score in their first two games, losing to Cleveland and Beaumont by scores of 4-0, and 7-0. The next two games saw the Crimson and White hitting attack pick up, but not enough to win. The Southwest Steers downed the Rough Riders, 6-4, and then we dropped a 10-8 "slugfest" to Blewett. It was in the fifth game that our boys broke into the victory column for the first time, defeating the Soldan Tigers, 9-5. The next game saw Roosevelt's pitchers being hit very hard, and the final score found the McKinley Goldbugs on top, 10-5. It was a different story in the final game of the season, for the Riders pounded out three runs in the opening inning, and then coasted to a 7-4 victory over the Central Redwings.

Combined records for the season show Roosevelt with four victories and ten losses. We were successful in winning two exhibition games while dropping five; in the Public High School League we had an identical record.

Listed below are the boys who were awarded letters for baseball and their batting averages in league games:

TRACK QUEEN

TRACK SQUAD

THE TRACK AUDITORIUM SESSION

May 26, 1944: The trumpets blared, the music swelled within the spaces of the Roosevelt auditorium, and thus, in this royal manner announced the approach of the queen and her maids. The moment was tense, the faces of the students, the people who had elected their queen, awaited the entrance of Roosevelt royalty.

As soon as the trumpets had announced the queen's presence, all heads were turned and all eyes were fixed upon the central door of the auditorium.

The long awaited moment had come. The maids of honor, Gerry White, Gloria Cunningham, Lois Ballard, Elaine George, and Dorothy Conrad, took their places on the stage one by one. At last, slowly down the aisle came Mary King, Roosevelt's Track Queen of 1944. An ear-splitting applause accompanied her to the throne where the retiring queen, Dorothy Kundsen, relinquished the throne to her.

Coach Reinhardt made a speech giving the students a brief sketch of the team and their chances of winning the meet. This team possessed the real spirit of Rooseveltians, the captains were ready to face whatever was held in store for them with high spirits and courage. The auditorium session closed with the students joining together and singing our "Alma Mater" and a word of caution from Mr. Hill to those students who were driving to the meet to drive carefully and avoid accidents.

The students filed from the auditorium, their crimson and white colors blending into a team of just one, Rooseveltians, come what may, win or lose, they were ready to accept either in the true Rooseveltian spirit.

TRACK POINT WINNERS

FIELD DAY

Field Day, hot and slightly cloudy, was disappointing to the large number of enthusiastic Rooseveltians, as Rooseevlt attained the position of second place, scoring only 84 points to Beaumont's 111. Our Juniors performed excellently, scoring 52½ points, by far the highest in the Junior division; our Novices did very well, scoring 21½ points; and our Senior division, although the participants had lost many good men to the armed services, scored 10 points, doing reasonably well. The Roosevelt runners finished as follows:

Senior Division—

Mile run—Killough, fourth.
440-yard dash—Bleisch, fifth.
880-yard run—Bennett, fifth.
220-yard dash—Bennett, fifth.
880-yard relay—Roosevelt, second.

Junior Division—

Broad jump—Appelbaum, fourth; Wilson, fifth.
120-yard low hurdles—Bena, first; Wandersee, third.
100-yard dash—Appelbaum, second.
Shot put—Layne, fourth.
High jump—Schmitz, tied for second.
50-yard dash—Ruzycki, fifth.

440-yard dash—Thieman, first.
880-yard run—Schmitz, second; Thieman, fourth.
Pole vault—Wickers, tied for first; Lewis, tied for third.
220-yard dash—Appelbaum, first; Fry, second.
880-yard relay—Roosevelt, first.

Novice Division—

75-yard dash—La Fleur, first.
High jump—Stendel, tied for second.
75-yard low hurdles—Zielinski, third—Wishon, fourth.
50-yard dash—Gredman, third; La Fleur, fifth.
Broad jumps—Faeber, third.
440-yard relay—Roosevelt, second.

As a whole, Roosevelt did fairly well, but we would like to see her regain first place and keep it as long as she has previously. The Roosevelt track coaches are doing a splendid job, and we hope that next year Roosevelt will have one of its most outstanding teams. The team is steadily improving and at its present rate it will surely be capable of upholding the honor of Roosevelt High School.

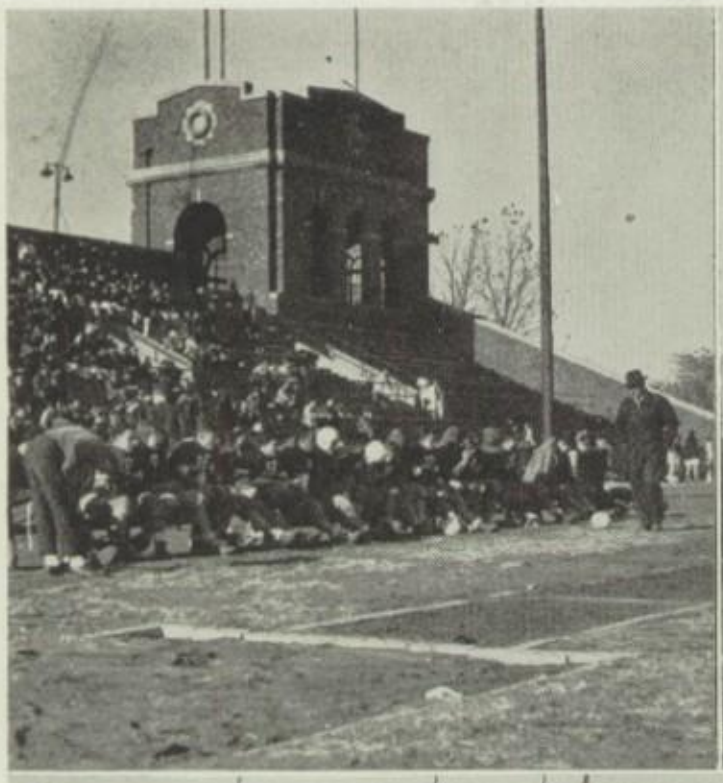
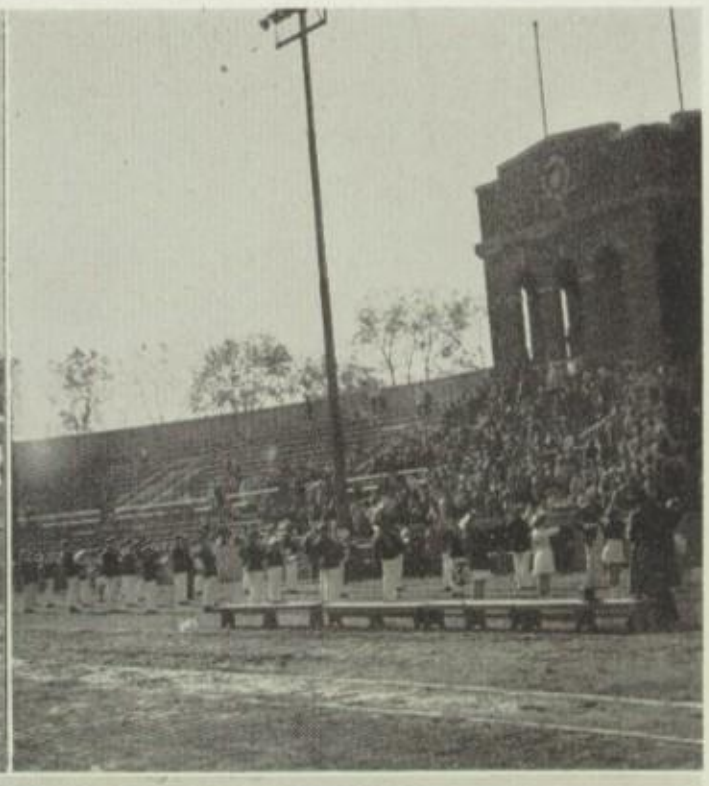
FOOTBALL

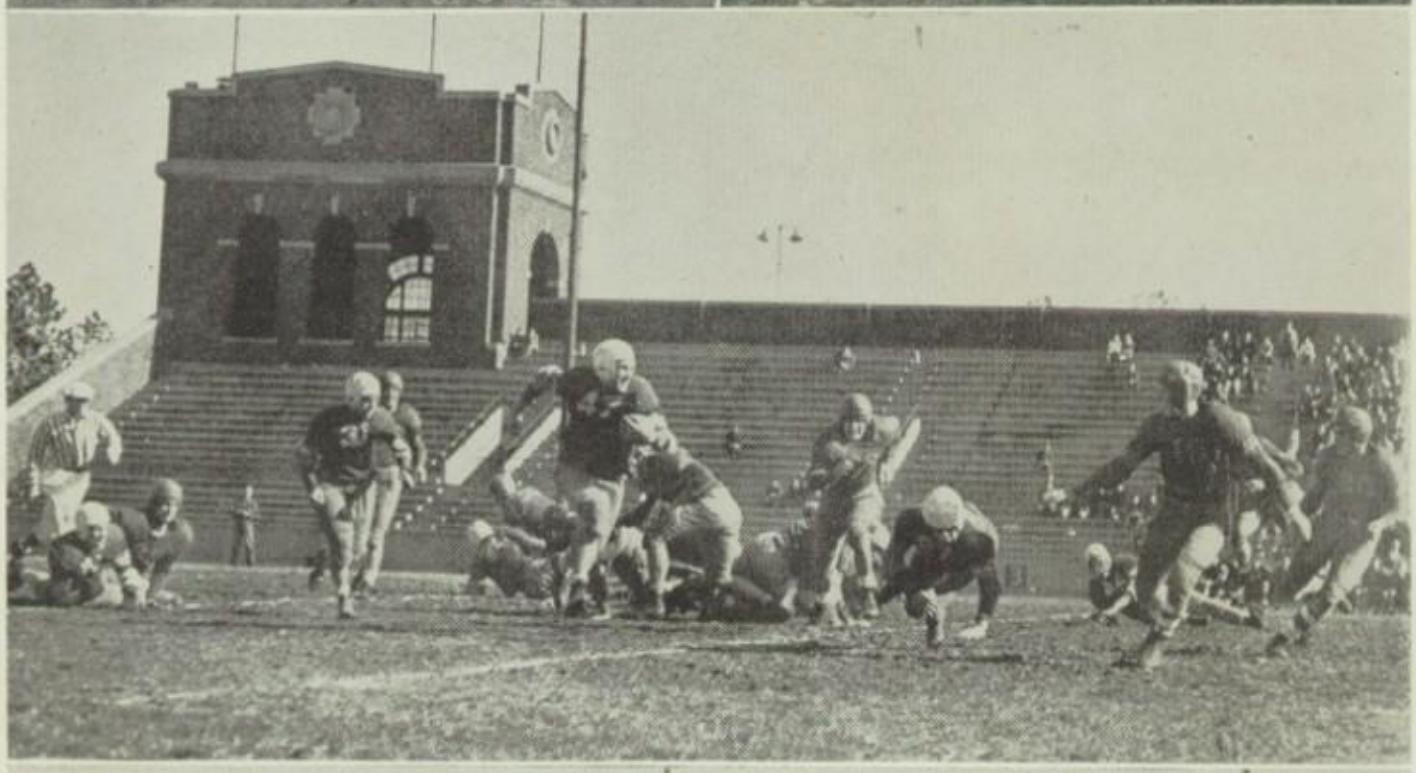
The Rough Rider football team had a good season this year, tying for second place in the league, winning four games, tying one, and losing one. The team had a powerful offensive built around Hoffmeister, Fledderman, Mandel, and was under the leadership of Alexander. Our strong line was composed of: Hummel and Layne, ends; Captain Geers and Killmar, tackles; Karmi and Hixon, guards; and Piros, center. Miller, Parrot, Giel, Weiters, Hausman, Gradolf, Applebaum, Becker, Hammermeister, Harvey, McClenning, Michler, Bennett, and Taylor did a good job of substitution.

Our first game was a 13-0 loss to McBride. Our second game was played against East St. Louis High School in the Shriners' Benefit Game. Although we dominated most of the game, we lost a close, thrilling game by a score of 19 to 14. Our third game was with our traditional rival, Cleveland, whom we defeated 20 to 19, much to the delight of all Rooseveltians. Our next game was a 14 to 7 loss to St. Louis University High mainly because of an injury to Hoffmeister. Our fifth game was a complete victory over Southwest, 25 to 0. In our next game we out-played McKinley, but the final result was a 7-7 tie. Then we lost to Beaumont by a score of 14-7; Beaumont won on two long runs. Central was our next opponent, and we rushed them 26 to 0. In our last game we made our highest score, defeating Soldan 33 to 6. The boys who were our high scorers for the season were, in order: Hoffmeister, Fledderman, Hummel, Mandel, Miller, and Geers.

All the regular members of the team were honored by being chosen on various All-Star Teams. Hoffmeister, Hummel, Geers, and Piros were members of the first teams.







Congratulations are due Coaches Rost, and Van Reen, the Athletic Department, the members of the team, and the managers for a very successful season.

The boys who received letters were: Hoffmeister, Fledderman, Mandel, Alexander, Miller, Layne, Hummel, Geers, Killman, Piros, Hixson, Karmi, Harvey, McClenning, Michler, Bennett, Taylor, and Managers Birchfield, Weiss, Groepper, and Hexter.

"B" TEAM FOOTBALL

The "B" team consists of boys who learn the fundamentals of football under the guidance of Coaches Van Reen and Kuntz. These boys deserve praise since they receive little glory and no letters for their hard work. The "B" team played a schedule five games, winning two, losing two, and tying one. Prospects for next year's varsity are: Kull, Broadhead, Romero, Mastolovich, Beck, Rottler, Stendel, Erckman, Vaughn, Fisher, Ulmer, Scarato, Loncaric and Ruzycki.

THE SPRING MAID

On May 18 and 19, 1944, the auditorium of Roosevelt High School rang with the lovely, lilting melodies of Heinrich Reinhardt's operetta, "The Spring Maid." The many hours of rehearsals could be seen in the smoothly-running and well-interpreted musical tale.

All Roosevelt has reason to be proud of the faculty members, Miss Hilb, Miss Manheimer, Miss Grace, and Mr. Hahnel, for their tireless efforts in making this performance such an outstanding success.

The principals were selected carefully, and each seemed to have a natural flair for the character that he or she was portraying.

The operetta opens at the annual pageant at Carlsbad Springs, a famous health resort in Czechoslovakia. Among the distinguished guests present were Princess Bozena, the lovely man-shy daughter of Prince Nepomuk, whose main interest is to have his daughter marry a man of wealth so that his creditors may be appeased, Baron Rudi, cousin of Bozena, is in love with Annamirl, the Spring Maid, and is greatly disturbed because Prince Aladar, a wealthy Hungarian nobleman who has a reputation with the ladies, arrives at the festival. Aladar has heard of Annamirl and wants to make her acquaintance, but Baron Rudi, foreseeing this, has conspired with Bozena that she should masquerade as Annamirl.

Roland, a famous English tragedian and director of the Carlsbad pageant, Ursula, his greatest admirer, and Spaetling, a Commissioner of Police, whose clues never fail him, supply further complications in the conspiracy. Aladar falls in love with Bozena, believing that she is the Spring Maid. Bozena returns his affection, but her pride will not permit her to accept his proposal of marriage and she tells Aladar that she will marry him when the spring runs dry. Prince Nepomuk, seeing an opportunity to have Bozena marry a man of wealth calls in a plumber and has the spring stopped. As in all operettas, the Prince marries the Princess and "all's well that ends well."

PIXIES

Everyone, no doubt, has heard of dwarfs, goblins, brownies, elves, and other such imaginary characters usually found in story books and fairy tales. The only type of imaginary imps that can be seen alive lives in the troposphere of the atmosphere. They are descendants of a particular type of elf. No one knows how or why they ascended into the sky. One theory states that they began hitch-hiking on airplanes during the early years of aviation development and, as the years progressed, they adapted themselves to flying. Some authorities assert that they were first observed in 1928 when a R. A. F. pilot, in broad daylight, discovered one with a luminous face sitting calmly on the compass, dangling his legs in the air. Others claim they were first seen at Kelly Field, Texas, about the latter part of 1923. No matter what their origin, the fact remains that they are truly a headache to aviators. Being mischievous is their chief occupation, although there are a few good ones. A study of their habits over a period of time shows the bad ones cause flat tires in mid-air, gnaw fuel lines, rip wing fabrics, steal maps out of map cases, jam control surfaces with their canes, and sit on the wing and deflect bullets with their thumbs as the bullets come out of the guns. As for the good ones, they help pilots by chipping ice off the wings, sliding into a disabled plane, on a radio beam, and by grasping hands hold it together till it reaches its base safely.

When a flying crew finds a flock of these imps on board, they naturally become a bit jittery, for they never know whether the little imps are friendly or otherwise. One particular imp is the one with bright green eyes which dazzle the bombardier at the critical moment. However, bombardiers have learned they can foil him by laying a trail of fresh molasses from the bomb-sight to the escape hatch. Another type is the widgets. They are about one-tenth the average size, which is twenty-four inches. Instead of being long-nosed and wearing derby hats, they have tiny noses that curl up at the tip, and, in place of hats, they have four tiny horns, one just above each ear and two in the middle of the forehead.

An interesting account of good imps is the one concerning a Sterling bomber. As the bomber was returning from a raid over the Alps, the wings began to ice up. That particular Sterling had no de-icers. Things looked bad as the plane lost lift. Suddenly dozens of the elves appeared, took a firm stand with their suction boots on the wing and began to chip away the ice with the stems of their umbrellas. When the ice was all gone, the big bomber cut across the end of a long rainbow and headed homeward. The imps, after doing their task, slid down the rainbow.

All elves living above the earth, Leprechauns, Cluricans, Widgets, Wiffen-poofs and Omadhaunes, are classified as Gremlins. The origin of the word "Gremlin" is obscure, though one authority maintains it is derived from the Latin word meaning to vex or pester. Most people do not believe in them because they cannot be seen. The fact is that only pilots and strongly air-minded people can see Gremlins. Could they be figments of the imagination?

AN EXCITING RIDE

I was in a great hurry. I had to be at the football game last Friday at seven o'clock. I wasn't paying any attention to the time this particular evening. Six o'clock, the time I should have departed came and went, as did six-fifteen. Then came six-thirty. Suddenly, I became conscious of the time. I gathered my equipment and raced toward the corner. There was a street-car waiting, but a few seconds before I reached it, the door closed and the car pulled away.

This made me see red. I began waiting for a second street car; five, ten, twelve minutes passed. A crowd was now waiting. Finally a street car came. When I heard the driver remark that he was fifteen minutes behind time, I thought his being behind time was luck because he would now travel faster than he usually does. He couldn't speed up, however, for at almost every stop there was somebody waiting. I reached Kingshighway after what seemed hours.

Waiting was a bus across the street, I started running. This time I won the race with the public conveyance. I saw a clock after we had gone a block: seven-fifteen; a few more blocks another clock, and as usual, another time: seven-five. What will the coach say: Will he even let me sit on the bench? It seemed the stop signs would turn red a second after they turned green, just because my bus was coming. Everybody seemed to be so leisurely about the business of waiting to get off at their stop. Why were they so happy? Didn't they know I was in a hurry? Another stop sign. Will I ever get there? "Seven-thirty," I heard somebody say. Maybe I should get out and run; it seemed to me that I would go faster. Maybe the coach wouldn't miss me. If I ever see a green stop sign again, I'll kiss it. Why does that driver have to pick up all these people? Such were my thoughts on a slow bus. Did I make the game? I did. The coach wasn't even angry. All my worrying for nothing!

THE ODORS OF A DARK-ROOM

"It's almost eleven-thirty, Don. Won't you please come up?" "In a minute, Mom," is the invariable answer to the foregoing question every night of the week. Yes, I literally dwell in my dark-room, amid the delicate fragrance of the various chemical compounds and solutions. For instance, the acid fixer, commonly known to photographers as "hypo," smells like decayed pickles still in the brine. At first the smell bothered me, but now I've grown to love it. Once contact is made with the innocent-looking liquid, the odor lingers several days, as it is virtually impossible to wash away the pungent nuisance. The nuisance goes to bed with me, eats with me, goes to school with me, and is particularly noticeable while reading, writing, or recreating. Perhaps I should buy a pair of print tongs. They might relieve my plight, for they are used to prevent one from dipping his fingers in the solutions. The thought of buying a pair of tongs has entered my mind quite often, but after analyzing the idea thoroughly, I've decided against it.

The tongs would prevent my coming in contact with the solution; if my fingers didn't touch the stuff they wouldn't smell, and I would have no reminder of my dark-room at home. If I had no reminder of my dark-room, my thoughts would not stray, I would have nothing to think about; and since I am a great thinker, I won't buy any tongs.

Another bottle besides that containing "hypo" adorns the shelf of my dark-room. It is a weird brown bottle containing a mysterious liquid, a liquid which transforms a blank strip of celluloid into a series of negatives from which the final prints are made. Photographers all know this liquid as "developer."

Developer has an odor all its own. In fact, I've never smelled anything quite like it(and I hope I never shall, again). Besides having an obnoxious odor, the developer has an unpleasant habit of forming a white crust over everything as it dries out. Since I invariably spill it while pouring it out, my dark-room has begun to take on a lighter aspect. The third of the "three musketeers" of the dark-room shelf is a solution known as potassium alum. I compound the potassium alum after my own formula (which is a little strong, I might add), but if the resulting liquid affects my olfactory nerves as does a strong whiff of ammonia, I am well satisfied. "Don, it's a quarter to twelve. Get up here."

"All right, Mom—in a minute."

DON MUELLER

ON METEMPSYCHOSIS

Webster's dictionary defines metempsychoses as "the transmigration of the soul after death into the body of another man or of lower animals." It is my opinion, however, that after the death of a person, good or bad, they go to their respective places, and do not traipse around from one body to another.

A metempsychosist firmly believes that, after he dies and his body, stiff and cold, is buried "six feet under" and daisies are substantially started on their way upward, he has the glorious privilege of choosing the body, or bodies, he wishes to dwell in. Now wouldn't that be handy! Suppose one wishes to be a great figure in the present time. All he has to do is to drink a bottle of iodine and then slip into the particular body chosen. Then, too, if that body (perhaps an old fat one) bores one, his soul might just as well slip out and find another. Mayhap one is lonesome? Then why not get in touch with a friend or two!

If one has a friend he wishes to communicate with, all that need be done is to slip out of the present position and into the friend. Then he sits down and writes a letter to himself.

After writing the letter, he might happen to remember that his migration is not only confined to human beings, but animals being included (alas, remembering that hateful bill-collector and being in the neighborhood) he begins to make preparations to enter into the animal kingdom. Then, after frightening the wits out of the bill-collector by reminding him in undertones that he had at some time overcharged on a collection, and also out of that cranky old landlord, whom one just happened to meet, he goes his carefree way.

Just think of the traveling one might do. Why, he could see the whole world from a "bird's-eye view," literally speaking. He wouldn't have to pay fare either. As a matter of fact, he wouldn't have to pay for anything.

Traveling along, the traveler's eye catches a sign-poster. "Maurice Evans and Judith Anderson in Shakespeare's Macbeth." This looks good. He just goes in this door and slips through the first person seen. The play is in progress. Choosing a seat to one's liking, he sits down. Ah! How nice it is to sit comfortably without tight-fitting bodies for a change. Vision is suddenly hampered by the huge feathers on the hat of the woman who just sat down, so a person must move. That is much better. One must be careful, however, that he is not sat upon suddenly.

No, I have no doubt that a metempsychosist believes that he can move around for the rest of eternity inspecting the inside of everyone he meets. Thus he travels from one body to another, and stays therein as long as he wishes.

I have often thought how humorous it would be if two such wonders happened to choose the same body.

"Oh, I beg your pardon, I didn't know this was occupied."

"That's quite all right. I was just leaving. It's rather boring in here."

"This is the second time I've bumped into you this week. How's Joe? I haven't seen him lately."

"He's getting along splendidly. Well, I must be rushing along now. I hope I shall bump into you again soon. Good-bye."

And so they go their own separate ways, until they bump into each other again.

I still prefer to believe that this is untrue. I believe that when you die, no similar experience will be yours. I must say, however, that superstition, or belief, or legend, or whatever one prefers to call it is certainly wonderful for the imagination. Is it not?

HOW I HATE TO WRITE AN ESSAY

Among other dreadful tasks comes the one of having to write an essay. Oh! what horrid things they are! This thought comes to my mind as I begin to sharpen my wits.

What can I write about? How can I put my thought into material which will appeal to the reader? After much thought and contemplation, I find a striking topic of interest. As my main thought begins to develop, a feeling of superiority springs up within me. I start to weave a pattern, which might, after much deep work, prove to be very interesting.

Such an over-taxing of brains! Moments such as these make me wonder if all authors had to go through this same nerve-wracking experience. If they had the desire to quit, such as I have right now, we can hardly blame them, for their work was much more tiring and complicating.

By this time, after seriously thinking of others' achievements, I begin my efforts again. It might be well to inform the reader that my brain is slowly beginning to function. At last my first paragraph is finished and the writing of the second goes along rather fluently. Perhaps I am acquiring that "certain something" that writers must have. This pleasant dream of fame is interrupted by a "bump" in the middle of my essay. I don't know what to say, what to write about. It is then that I become quite disgusted with myself and think that perhaps I had better quit. After all, I'm not another Lamb!

Something begins to prick my conscience. I can't give up this easily. The old adage, "Try, try again," flashes to my mind, and try I do until I finally reach my goal: the end of the essay.

There may linger a feeling of delight as I read my work; again, there may not. All I know is that the feeling uppermost in me is this: I just hate to write an essay.

ROSEMARIE LIPPOLD

MY SCHOOL AND ITS OCCUPANTS AS I SEE THEM

Roosevelt High School appears to me as a giant dynamo having pent up in it an undiminishing source of brain power and muscle power. This brain power and muscle power are supplied by students who surge through the corridors as a current of electricity surges through a wire only to be cut off by a switch. But in our case the switches are the teachers and the master switch is the principal. Because of my foregoing statements, I hope no one takes me to be an expert on the subject of electricity, high school students, and high school teachers, as this I do not claim to be.

At this point I drop the subject of electricity, dynamos, and wires with a resounding thud and take up the subject of students. (No doubt certain persons would drop me with a thud if they ever gazed upon the words which lie sprawled upon this page.) Students, I believe, are divided into four classes: first, there is the athletic type; second, the studious type; third, the I-don't-give-a-care type; and, finally, mister or miss average student.

Now the athletic type of fellow is the one who, with his friends, takes up half the bench space in the halls, crowds around the drinking fountains and talks between classes, so that one has to resort to football tactics before he can enjoy the freshness of 'Ole Man River, and then as the last bell rings, sprints down the hall to his next class. Once there he drops into his seat, as if he were half dead, and tries to conform to the wishes of his teacher. Another thing he tries to do is get his lesson, because, as you know, he must pass if he wants to play on the team.

The studious type, I am told, is indeed rare, but once you see him you cannot mistake him for someone else. He can be seen walking down the hall under an enormous pile of text and note books. He always arrives in ample time for classes and before said classes start, opens his book and begins reviewing so that when the teacher begins the recitation his hand is continually in the air waving like a flag in a hurricane.

For the present we'll leave the flag waving and turn to the I-don't-give-a-care fellow. This type occupies the other half of that bench space that I mentioned previously. He also makes his appearance in class with the ringing of the bell or strolls in some time later only to be sent out in search of a detained slip. When he finally gets to class, the teacher discovers he has either lost or forgotten his book or he has not prepared the day's lesson. This is also the fellow who directs first-termers to the elevator and who gets into everybody else's business because he has nothing else to do.

While that first-termer is trying to find the elevator, we approach our next type of pupil, the average student. This type may be classified as the happy medium. He arrives on time for classes, has his lessons ready (with a few exceptions), and returns his report card, signed, on time. In short, this is the one type that makes teaching worth while for the members of the faculty.

Ah, yes! The members of the faculty. They are my next subject. I divide them into the agreeable and the not-so-agreeable types. I shall first take up the agreeable type.

These are the teachers that have a smile on their faces and make one feel at home in their classes. They seem to get along with everyone and are willing to help one along when one reaches a snag in his studies. Now the not-so-agreeable type of teacher carries a chip around on his (or her) shoulder and has all the qualities of the agreeable teacher—in reverse. I say we can use fewer of this type.

That brings to an end my little satire on students and teachers. You will observe that I have treated the subject of teachers rather lightly because, you see—I want to pass this term.

RICHARD PROVAZNIK

OUR MILKMAN USED TO SET UP PINS FOR THE ROOSEVELT BOWLING CLUB.

A PENCIL

I picked up my pencil. A pencil. Well, what about a pencil? The dictionary says that pencil, a noun, is a cylinder containing graphite, carbon, lead, and chalk, for the purpose of writing. All of this, of course, is encased in wood.

Look at that pencil carefully. Examine it closely. Don't laugh so scornfully! A pencil is a weapon; a powerful weapon. It can decide the fates of nations. A pencil might change your whole course of life. And, then again, it may point only to a small event in your life. It can spell out a zero as easily as a one hundred. It figures in your small happenings and in the eventful happenings of rulers and nations.

Did you ever forget to bring your pencil to class? It made a "whale" of a lot of difference, didn't it? Maybe that was the one thing your teacher insisted upon: a pencil in each person's possession.

Take another look, a close look at that pencil. Who made it? Who mined the lead, graphite, and other materials? Who felled the trees for the casing of the lead? Is the lead soft or is it hard? How many people worked to give you a pencil? Do you know the answers?

About a hundred individuals worked to make that single pencil. That's a hundred more jobs, a hundred less people on relief, or jobless. Do you not feel a little respect for that pencil now? Perhaps the next time you won't forget it, or lose it so carelessly.

"A fool and his pencil are soon parted." Don't please, let us have to call you a fool. Hold on to that pencil, friend! It is a potent weapon.

LOUISE SCHMIDT

REPORT CARDS!

Oh-h-h. Yes, from the time you entered school, perhaps your greatest worry has been those annoying things! They have their good points as well as their bad, for who knows, if your grades are good, you may get the money for the first installment on that jaloppy, or for that cute little hat. Nevertheless, everyone gets a report card, so I am going to try to show what a typical high school report card day is like.

You wake up, to your disgust, earlier than usual and feeling very blue, but ready for anything. Before you leave school, you skilfully prepare your parents for the shock, insist that you have the worst teachers in the school, and that if you don't get good grades, it's because they all dislike you.

Finally, you drag yourself to school and to advisory where you are given the fateful card. With a word of admonition from your advisor about forging signatures, you are off to your classes. You start out fairly well, but just can't see how Ed Snizzleginks got a higher geometry grade than you did when he got a lower test grade. Oh, well, "He's got pull."

You are cheered up by your music grade and tell your friends that after all it wasn't easy to make. The morning passes and at luncheon you discuss your grades with your friends over a "what-is-it?" sandwich and a "looks-pretty-good" dish. The afternoon, to your surprise, passes quickly and at three o'clock you conclude that the reckoning could have been worse. As you leave, you greet your friends with a "Hi! How'd you make out?" You are sympathetic with some and envious of others.

At last you arrive home and upon showing your card to your parents, there are explanations of "I told you so," and, "Hereafter, that radio must be shut off while you are doing your homework!"

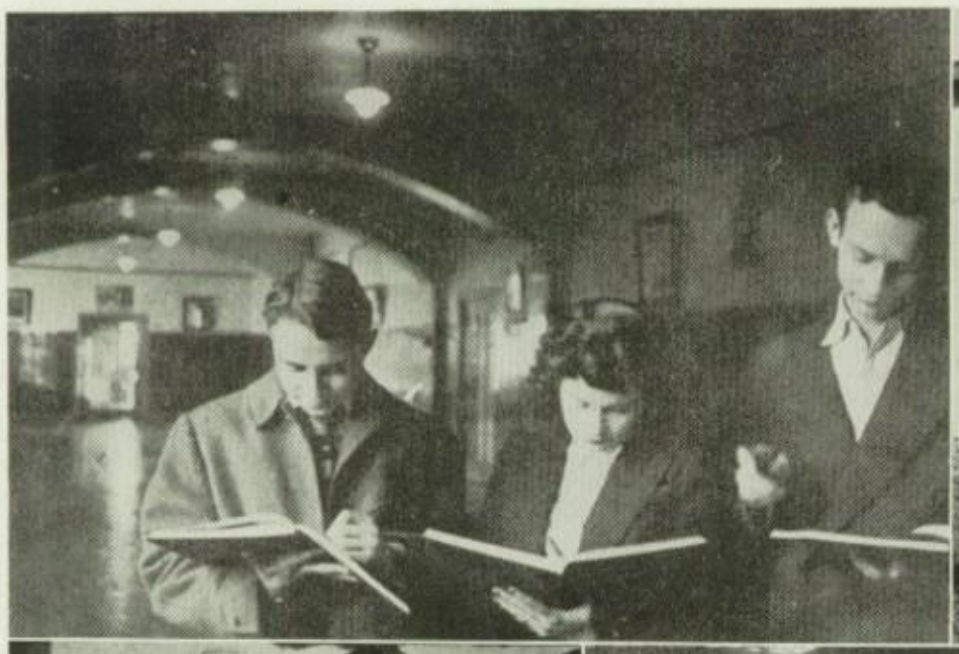
Report card day finally comes to an end and your record, having been viewed by every family member and commented upon by each, is signed by Father or Mother. Then you fall wearily into bed, promising to turn over a new leaf the next day, and thanking your lucky stars that report cards come only every seven weeks!

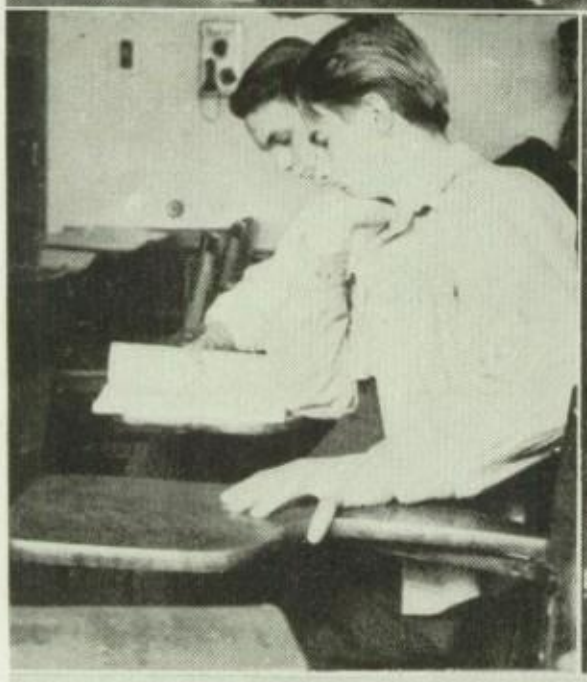
LOUISE CRECELIUS

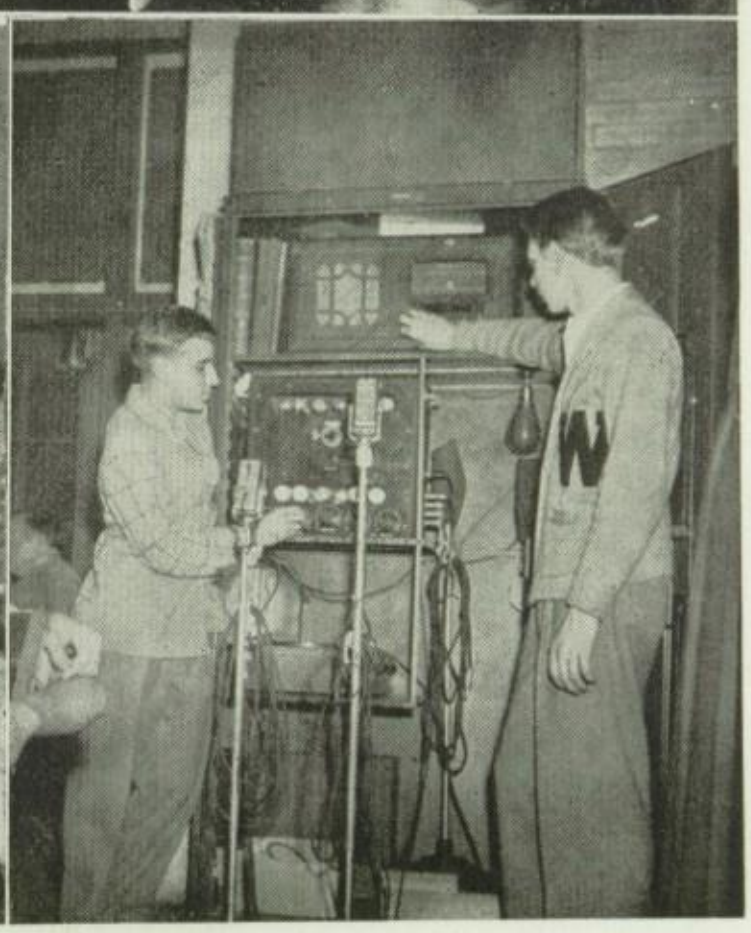
THE STUDY HALL

In we stride with abounding pep and enegry plus a firm resolution to keep that promise to the history teacher by finding out what finally happened to Napoleon. With a thud we fall into our seat and decide to wait for the bell before studying. Turning around to observe the day's attendance we see Bill J—— slouched in a corner in the back of the room. Calling out a friendly greeting and receiving one in return, we again think of Napoleon after receiving a warning glance from the teacher in charge. Open comes the history book with the ringing of the bell. As our eyes skim down the first paragraph we notice some tiny form of life on the desk top. Could it be? Or do I dare look? Yes, it is! Well, well, the first fly of Spring. Wouldn't it be fun to see the fellow in front squirming if this particular fly happened to be down his back, say, by accident. Oh, oh, now he's disappeared; but there he sits in the center of the aisle. So with mental action we calculate the distance, and the direction in which the fly will probably take off. So we cup our hands and lunge. Oops, our foot slipped and there we sit in the middle of the aisle with a surprised expression upon our face, a history of the world in our lap, and an appeasing grin to satisfy the inquiring look on the teacher's face. Resolved to get down to work, we begin reading about friend Napoleon, when the bell rings. So off we go with a vague bit of information that somebody finally quarantined Napoleon because he tried to give a lot of people lead poisoning.

RICHARD F. PROVAZNIK







MY VICTORY GARDEN

Last year I determined to have a Victory Garden. Yes! I was going to raise lots of food to help my country. I made promises, boasts, and bets with the greatest of ease. That winter, plans were laid, garden books read, and plans were worked out scientifically. On paper everything looked easy.

Alas! Spring had come and I set out to solve the food shortage. With spade, hoe, rake, ruler, and boxes of seeds, I went out into the yard with great enthusiasm. I put the spade to the earth and pushed, and pushed, but nothing happened; the ground held firm. The battle was on: high hopes versus ground with strong constitution. After breaking the ground, I encountered bricks, cans, roots, rocks, nails, pails, and everything imaginable. I was not only going to grow food, but also help the scrap drive.

After much digging, plowing, and losing of temper, I tucked the seeds into their beds.

Spring wore on and at last tender green shoots were coming up. How excited I became, but something must have gone wrong. The shoots weren't in the nice straight rows as I had planted them. Upon further investigation, I found the shoots to be weeds. Yes! weeds of every conceivable description. So—I started weeding my garden. I grabbed the first weed I saw and gave a pull, but nothing happened. So, bracing myself, I pulled and pulled, but after a struggle I pulled it out. I have never seen so many roots for such a small plant.

After I had conquered the weeds, my crops came up to a nice size. Again (optimist that I am), I thought my work was done. One day I noticed that the tops of my beets were gone. On investigating, I found the cause to be—of all things—bugs! Bugs were all over the plants: everything from plant lice to big green caterpillars. Again the battle was on; determination versus hungry insects. Armed with spray gun, bug powder, fly swatter, and poison, I set out to conquer these little pests that were devouring my garden. After several more weeks of work, victory was mine; the insects were exterminated.

In due season, harvest time came. After digging, weeding, fighting insects, and watering my garden, I was ready to eat the food I had tended so carefully. Although many of the carrots and beets were extremely small, and some of the tomatoes were wormy, my garden did very well, but it did not live up to the boasts and promises I had made the winter before. Though my "V" garden didn't wholly solve the food shortage, it did supply the vegetables for several meals, and you have no idea how delicious they tasted. The results more than repaid the effort put forth by an amateur gardener.

CHARLES GEISEL

BWANA CALENDAR

February, 1944, to June, 1944

February 2: Did you notice all the Rough Riders wandering around the halls with those little yellow program cards? Did you see all the little New Jays gaping with awe and wonderment? You've got it! It's the first day of the new term. Ah, yes, what a day! There is one consolation for everyone, though—yes, from the tiniest New Jay to the biggest Senior—you are now one term closer to that Glorious Graduation Day. How's that for a happy thought? Therefore, children, don't groan about those programs, but cheer up! New faces, new teachers, new work—in short, the new term begins!

Everyone was welcomed back to school by the following words which appeared in the February 2 bulletin:

"We take this opportunity to introduce the Class of January, '48. May their stay at Roosevelt be happy, and profitable to them and Roosevelt High School. To the returning students we wish continued success if needed. Consistent effort will do the trick in most cases."

Don't forget—track meeting, February 3, in Room 301. All boys interested in participating in track this spring are invited to attend this meeting.

Attention! Everyone attend the big triple-header basketball game, February 4, St. Louis University Gymnasium.

February 3—Today we met our teachers (bless their hearts). They welcomed us in all sorts of ways, jokes, stories, lectures, and—homework.

Those seeking early dismissal passes are asked to see Miss Remnitz in the Guidance Office. Lunch passes are to be issued by Miss Cleveland.

The R. O. T. C. will meet today in Room 401. All boys interested in enlisting are invited to come to Room 401 and enlist.

Don't forget, but please remember. Meeting of Girls' Bowling Club in 301, Friday, February 4. It is important that all old members and prospective members attend.

February 4—All Rooseveltians, prick up your ears! The American Legion Oratorical Contest will be held at Cleveland High School on Monday evening, February 7, at eight o'clock. Teachers, students, and parents are invited. Let's support our representative, Jack Smylie. We are competing against Cleveland and South Side Catholic in this preliminary round.

All pupils interested in service see Mr. Griggs in Room 315 at the close of school today.

Girls who signed up for the Girls' Twirling Club, and also any others who may be interested, will meet in Room 39 today at 3:15.

Meeting of the Girls' Bowling Club in 302, and the Boys' Bowling Club in 301, today.

Attention! All pupils who wish to learn how to play chess, camelot, polygon, and checkers. There will be a meeting of the Chess Club in Room 310, Monday, February 7, at 3:00 o'clock.

Fight! fight! Team fight! You've guessed it. The basketball season is in full swing and it's Roosevelt's first victory, with our Rough Rider Cagers defeating Ben Blewett Five by a score of 33 to 22. Congratulations, Team! Keep up the good work!

February 7—Today is Monday, blue Monday. School is now in full swing again—unfortunately.

Today all of our dancing Jacks and Janes transferred their brains from their feet to their heads for the first Bwana Meeting of the term. Furthermore, they're all determined to make it a really successful year.

Our one week furlough from school purchases of war stamps and bonds is over, and tomorrow we once more have the opportunity to "Back the Attack" with our dimes and dollars. And—here's an added incentive to break all records for sales this week and next. The first big auditorium session of the term is planned for Friday, February 25. Tickets of admission will be given only to those students who buy at least fifty cents' worth of stamps during the two-week period, February 7 to February 18. Part of the program will feature representatives from the "Big Ten" advisory groups, so make every effort to put your group in the lead on the program. Further details concerning the program will be given later, but we can safely predict a show you won't want to miss.

The American Legion Auxiliary is holding an interesting contest. Students interested in poetry should go to Room 321 at the close of school tomorrow for details.

All interested in ordering seeds and catalogues for a victory garden, report to Room 321 today after school.

Attention, R. A. E. S.—There will be a meeting in Room 10, after school tomorrow.

Members of the Art Club, get out your memo pad—the Art Club will meet in Room 301 immediately after school tomorrow.

Girls' Twirling Club is being organized for active drill and rehearsal. The club is limited to twenty-four, and any over that number will be put on the reserve list. If you are interested, see Mr. Hahnel in Room 39 before Friday, February 11, when final membership will be acted upon.

Bulletin: Flash!—All girls interested in volley-ball or basketball, report to the gym either February 8 or 9, immediately after school.

Notice to Swimmers! A try-out for the Girls' Swimming Team will be held Tuesday afternoon, February 8, at 3:00 o'clock. Candidates and members report to Room 24.

February 8—What do you say, Rough Riders? Why can't we get a full 100 per cent like everyone else? Come on, let's dig in! Today is the first war stamp and bond salesday of the term. Let's turn loose of our dimes and dollars to "Back the Attack."

Attention! All boys interested in a pre-induction course in Radio Repair sponsored by the government, come to the Guidance Office today.

We recently received a $5000 credit from Mr. Beck in appreciation of the work of the January graduates. Remember, that Mr. Beck still has $15,000 for us, to be awarded $5000 for each 100 per cent week.

Flash for the Eights! Primary election of officers in Room 112, Thursday afternoon, at three. Bring button designs. Come one, come all.

The Boys' Bowling Club will bowl today.

Notice to all pupils wishing to be typists, cartoonists, photographers, distributors, or reporters on the Rough Rider Staff—Report to Room 226, Wednesday morning at 8:30.

February 9—Come on, Rough Riders! Start fulfilling your requirement for the Big Bond Aud. This session is to be different. Let's have 100 per cent of the 100 per cent groups present. Why not make a problem for the committee by having 100 per cent of the entire school qualify for tickets?

Attention, Rooseveltians! The film, "Campus on the March," will be shown in the auditorium Thursday morning at 8:30.

Flash! Representatives of the P. T. A. will be here during the lunch periods Thursday and Friday to sell tickets to the benefit show at the Missouri Theatre. The picture is 'Where are Your Children?" Half the receipts go to civic organizations, the P. T. A. being one, to help support juvenile community activities. Please tell your parents. Tickets cost 50 cents.

There will be a meeting of the Aeronautics Club in Room 47 at 3:10 today to elect new officers and discuss important new business. New members are welcome; they do not have to know how to build model airplanes to be eligible for membership. Come one, come all.

The College Club will meet in Room 301 this afternoon.

The Knit Wits will have their first meeting in Room 212 immediately after school today.

February 10—Will your advisory group be represented by a "quiz kid" at that biggest of all Auditorium sessions on Friday, February 25? It rests squarely upon your shoulders. First, make sure that your group is 100 per cent, and then invest all that money you have "salted away" in the future of your Uncle Sam. And we need your help in one other small way: next Wednesday, February 16, we are asking every student in the school to make a voluntary contribution of one cent (that's right, one penny) toward a fund to be used for prizes for the winning contestants in the Aud. Quiz Program, Student Council Representatives will collect these pennies and turn them over to Coach Lorenzen.

February 11—ABRAHAM LINCOLN (1809-1865). "With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in, to bind up the Nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow, and his orphan—to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and a lasting peace among ourselves, and with all nations."

Subscriptions for the Roosevelt Rough Rider were taken in the advisories today. Come on, Rough Riders, buy subscriptions and support your Rough Rider.

February 14—The Bwana Staff holds the second meeting for the term in Room 328.

Another "blue Monday" has finally rolled around. Why is it that this phrase must be so worn out? Why can't Mondays be bright and peppy? Why doesn't somebody do something? Who, us? Oh! We haven't the time or energy to talk about it now.

Beware, Rooseveltians! A recent record has shown that Roosevelt's sale of War Stamps and Bonds has been low in comparison with the sales of the other high schools in St. Louis. Does this mean that we care less for our brothers, and cousins, and fathers in the service than do students in these other schools? Does it mean that we are indifferent to the sacrifices being made by those gallant boys who stand between us and slavery? Let's show them tomorrow that we at Roosevelt are behind them. Let's make it 100 per cent for the first time—then keep it there! And remember, your group must be 100 per cent before anyone in your group can receive a ticket for the biggest of all Aud. sessions—on Friday, February 25. If you miss this session, you'll regret it. Don't say we didn't warn you. Let's all qualify to attend, and so pack that auditorium that even a sardine couldn't find room to squeeze in.

Attention! Anyone interested in knitting for the Red Cross during study periods, see Miss Binnington some time today.

Three cheers for our super-duper swimming team! The Roosevelt High School Swimmers won their sixth straight meet and the fourth in the Public High League competition by beating Central, 27.5 to 18.5, at the North Side Y. M. C. A. The Rough Riders took first place in six events, tied for the 160-yard free-style relay and dropped the diving event. They have Cleveland to defeat before the Public High title is theirs. Cleveland is also unbeaten, although having one tie. So come on out to the swimming meets, you loyal Rooseveltians, and prove yourselves worthy of having such a fine team. Support it!

Don't forget! Basketball this week: February 15, Roosevelt vs. Central, 6:30 p. m., at the St. Louis University Gymnasium; February 18, Roosevelt vs. Cleveland, 7:40 p. m., at the St. Louis University Gymnasium. February 15—This is the day when every Rooseveltian will buy at least one little war stamp, thereby qualifying every advisory group to receive some tickets for the show of shows, the gigantic colossal "Stamp Rally" on Friday, February 25. And, if you want to be there (and who doesn't?) remember to make your purchase of stamps total at least fifty cents for last week and this week together. Just one more thing: tomorrow your Student Council representative will ask you for one cent (that's right, just one penny) for the prize money to be distributed to the winning contestants in the quiz part of the program. That will be the smallest investment you have ever made in the most fun you've ever had.

Why at the War Stamp and Bond Aud., of course, a masterpiece in Rooseveltian show production.

February 28—Attention, all boys! Be patriotic, and help out your Uncle Sam! Help with the paper collection of Sunday, March 5. Roosevelt is expected to furnish 125 boys.

a new School at War Flag since the other one was badly frayed from flying so long. Let's give the new flag the same treatment.

March 24—To our Angels of Mercy! Yes, to our great American Red Cross we give thanks. Today we had an auditorium session that touched the hearts of everyone. A sailor from Uncle Sam's Navy told us how much the Red Cross was appreciated by our boys out there. We are all urged to give as much as we can for the support of the organization. The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Hahnel, plays several numbers. The Huff twins sing two songs.

March 27—Miss Meehan has retired from teaching after making an enviable record. Her daily presence among us will be missed by pupils and teachers alike. Don't worry about a sun-burned back. We don't mean swimming either. We're just trying to tell you to try out for the Tennis Team.

April 6—There is a very important Senior meeting today.

We also announce two big sports events: Here—Track meet with Cleveland at 4:00 o'clock. There—Baseball game with St. Louis University.

April 11—Pull in that happy sign. We are back with a groan.

Pan-American Day is here, and we pay tribute to our Latin and South American neighbors, by having an Aud in their honor. Mr. Hahnel directs

Then we are given an appropriate talk by Dick Krachenberger, enjoy a tango under the direction of Miss Fager, see a helpful movie on Ecuador, and end by hearing Miss Hilb's Glee Club sing their version of "La Cucharacha" and another Spanish folk song. Come on, boys! You're not going to let the girls get by with this, are you? What do we mean? Why, they have been complimented on the appearance of their dining room during and after lunch. Try a little harder. We know that you, too, can do it if you will.

All seniors who want to educate their brains a little more may speak to a representative from Monmouth College today. Don't throw away such a chance. Education is unlimited.

We can really be proud of our girls. They have the most orderly lunchroom in the city. No comment has been made on the boys' side, but they are improving, too.

April 22—Swoosh! Swoosh! What's that? Yes, it's rain. Get out your swimming suits because it won't be long now until you can swim in your own back yard. Have fun.

April 24—This is the bluest of blue Mondays. You'll have a hard time getting up all this week.

Quick, rush out and buy the giant size box of multiple vitamins. You'll need them this week. Why? This week is full of headaches and horrors. Comprehensive written reviews. Enough said.

If you can broad jump or high jump, the Track Team needs you. Don't disappoint them.

April 25—Today the reviews start. All the girls and boys who have classes during the second and sixth period will have to show that they are doing their best or—we hate to say what might happen.

Today is your opportunity if you want to join the United States Cadet Nurse Corps. I'm speaking to the seventh and eighth term girls.

April 26—Would you like to walk to school? Ah, we didn't think so. If you lose your folder for your pass and you want it returned, you are going to have to have your name on it very clearly. Otherwise the chances are that you're going to have to walk not only to school, but everywhere you want to go.

Our great annual operetta is coming up. This year it is going to be "The Spring Maid." It promises to be a great success. The tickets will go on sale in the near future. Get yours at an early date.

April 28—Happy days are here again. We have passed or failed, and let us hope we all come out with smiling faces. Yes, chillun, comprehensives are finished. Now you'll know if you have any brains left, and so will your teacher.

May 2—The Rough Riders lose their second game in a row in League competition today when they are routed by Beaumont's pitcher, Goodwin, on the Roosevelt campus. The Rough Riders total two hits and are able to make only second base. Better luck next time. We know you can do it.

May 4—R. O. T. C. hold a sham battle in which the company attack a specially trained squad. There are to be other battles combined with lectures. Boys, join now and get in on the coming events.

May 18—The Roosevelt Rough Riders end a good baseball season by running over the Central Redwings today by a score of 5-2. The Rough Riders finish in sixth place, but deserve a lot of credit as only two lettermen returned.

May 26—The sun shines brightly on the spectators and participants of the long-awaited Field Day. All Roosevelt students are enthusiastic and dressed in red and white, and all were joyful on hearing the last reports that Roosevelt had come in second. Hurrah for our team!

June 1—"Oh, what a beautiful morning," is not a very good song to sing on this bright June morn. The reason? A street-car and bus strike. Many of us have at last found out what our legs are used for.

June 2—The strike continues and walking isn't half so bad as it sounds. The general agreement is that we take up walking for our health.

June 6—We are all counting the days when school will be out and we can once more go swimming, camping, and fishing.

Today is "D" day, the day which we have all been waiting for. This day will long be remembered by us here at Roosevelt High.

June 9—All the clubs here at school are winding up their business so that they will be ready when vacation starts.

June 12—Those lucky seniors! Their classes are over and all they do is practice marching into the auditorium and out again. Maybe they deserve the rest now that they have earned that coveted piece of parchment.

June 14—The last Rough Rider of the term, the Special Senior Edition, is given out today.

At last we are turning in our books. Three months of heaven begin just four days from today.

June 15—The mighty Seniors have graduated and we all miss them just a little. I'm sure they will miss us, too, and "dear old Roosevelt" that they are leaving behind.

June 16—We returned for just an hour today to get our report cards. Summer is finally here. So until next September we bid you farewell.

DEFENSE STAMPS

One thin dime! Just one-tenth of one dollar is all that is needed to secure a fortune and a future in the post-war times. Just a dime, which most pupils would gladly give up to buy that package of chewing gum, bar of candy, or that ice cream treat. But some pupils will not give a dime to invest in something far better than any pleasure they could now enjoy. Some just won't be convinced that it is for their own good; others say that they use their entire allowance or wage every week to buy a new wardrobe; still others have the flimsy excuse, and one that becomes very tiring, that they forgot. The one dime that they are holding on to so determinedly, might possibly be spent to buy the bullet that would save one American boy from paying the supreme sacrifice. If a brother, dear friend, or someone in their circle of relatives would pay the supreme sacrifice because his gun did not have that bullet that would bring him back, then they would wake up. You're not giving your money; you're lending it. You secure a future and also help other American boys, dear to other people, to come back.

ROBERT HOHENSTEIN

Sixes are asked to attend a meeting in Room 301 immediately after school Thursday to nominate class officers and to transact other business.

October 4—O, you lucky people with study halls the sixth or seventh periods! How are the World Series games? It's pretty exciting when two teams from the same city play each other in a World Series. Whom are you for, Cardinals or Browns?

All students interested in interscholastic debating are invited to meet with Mr. Snider and Mr. Schmale today in Room 7 at 3:10 p. m.

October 5—The world series broadcast is again made available to study pupils. They are excused about 2:00. Seventh period study pupils may go directly to the Aud. without first reporting to the study teacher. Those pupils not interested in hearing the games may stay in their study rooms.

Sixes hold their first meeting of the term with their moderator, Miss Mills, to nominate candidates for class officers. Plans are made for the coming term.

The Sevens meet to order buttons and meet their class officers. They are as follows: Bob Winters, President; Lowell Hake, Vice-President; Helen Sherwin, Secretary and Treasurer.

The Eights meet to elect officers and choose a button design. Results of the election are: Joe Waldner, President; David Warren, Vice-President; Bill Weisz, Treasurer; Ruth Mann, Secretary; and Paul Hammermeister, Sergeant-at-Arms.

October 6—Ears perk up as four bells are heard in the middle of our third period classes. New Jays look a little puzzled, but they soon learn that it is a fire drill. Smiling faces hint at many students' joy in missing part of their class. Some rather self-conscious girls lag behind in the regulation "blues." The drill is managed effectively and efficiently and all is accomplished in a few minutes.

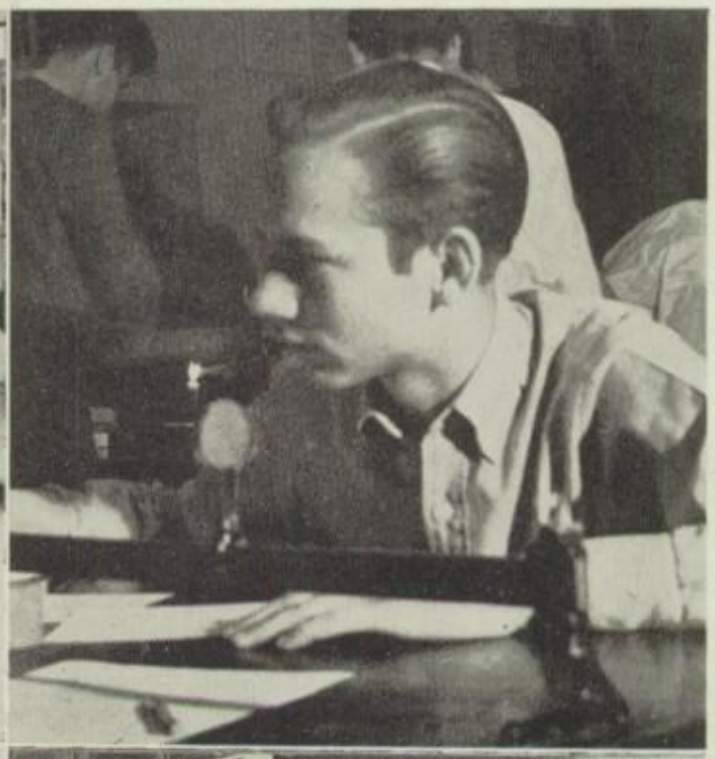
We want a touchdown! We want a touchdown! Our Rough Riders get that touchdown and two more as they defeat Cleveland, 20-19, in our first league game of the season. Rooseveltians shout with joy while holding buckets to catch Clevelandites' tears.

October 10—Did you notice anything unusual today? Boys are giving their ties their annual airings. That's right! Bwana pictures! My, there is so much charm radiated that it warms up the whole outdoors; which, by the way, needs considerable warming.

Captain Quinlivan of the Fire Department spoke to the student body. This marked the twentieth year he has been speaking to students during Fire Prevention Week. He asked for co-operation in preventing fires and false alarms. His talk was very entertaining and educational.

October 11—Smile! Come on, turn on that charm! Click! Yes, once again Rooseveltians get sweaters out of mothballs, assume those angelic faces and gather at the main entrance to wait for their pictures to be taken for Bwana. Odd sounds emerge from the groups, though. Why? Well, the weather decided to try Jack Frost's idea of an ideal autumn day. Everyone gladly bears this inconvenience far, after all, a few minutes escape from classroom drudgery is always welcomed by one and all.

The second meeting of the Sixes is held to elect class officers. They are as follows: Alex Schmitz, President; Shirley Pounds, Secretary; Bob Horn, Treasurer; and Wayne Fledderman, Sergeant-at-Arms.



October 12—Students with tickets and notes from home giving permission for their going, are excused from their afternoon classes to attend the Black Hills Passion Play at Kiel Auditorium. The production proves to be truly impressive and inspiring.

October 13—This Friday 13, is indeed, Roosevelt's unlucky day. The Roosevelt football team have a real battle with the St. Louis U. High team. Roosevelt started the scoring, which soon goes into a tie. Thus, the game stands, and when there was but a minute left, everyone thinks the game will end in a deadlock. As the seconds tick away, the people move toward the gates. Then, with thirty seconds left, something happens. Before anyone realizes what has happened, the game is over, and the score is: St. Louis U. High, 14, Roosevelt, 7.

Periods in the afternoon are shortened ten minutes each to enable the teachers to attend a lecture on the racial question.

October 16—At their last meeting the R. A. E. S. are honored with the presence of one of their former members, Bernadean Ossenberg, who is now a member of the C. A. P. Miss Ossenberg credits her rapid advancement in the C. A. P. to the training that she received in the R. A. E. S. while attending Roosevelt. To all present and intended members: there will be a meeting Tuesday directly after school.

October 17—Regular Swimming Team practice Tuesday, October 17, after school. Those boys who missed the first trials will be given another opportunity Tuesday. Be ready to swim!

The A Period Choir sings at York Hotel.

October 18—The New Jays are given an opportunity to show their musical genius in their Aud. session the first period.

October 19—We feel that Roosevelt High should have its own Swing Band. Anyone interested is urged to meet with Mr. Lorenzen in 123 at 3:00 today.

Jack Smylie gives detailed information about the political campaign and straw vote which will be held on November 1. All students who register may vote. On November 1, each voter will go to a booth with other voters in his advisory. Seems that Roosevelt High is really going to enter politics!

October 20—Seniors turn their pockets inside out in an effort to pay for Bwana pictures and buttons. Today's the deadline.

Ring your cowbells! Cheer your loudest! Rough Riders rope and tie the Southwest Steers in the second league game of the season. Score: 25-0.

October 23—Today Rooseveltians may register for the mock presidential election. Registration will continue until October 27.

Mr. Young presides over a meeting of the Democratic party this morning in the Aud. Jack Smylie is elected chairman.

October 24—That day of days when the entire school is enveloped in a blackness known as "gloom." Corridors buzzing with, "What did she give you?" and "How many 'F's' did you get?" They simply come out three times a term too often: Those old report cards!

October 25—It is announced today that a "straw vote" or preview election will be held in the school to educate the people approaching the voting age on why and how to vote. Polling places have been assigned, students have registered, and now we are all ready for election day which in the school will be November 1, 1944.

October 26—One of the biggest events of this term, a masquerade, is sponsored by the Sevens. Dancing and refreshments are enjoyed by all, but two of the biggest moments of the evening are the unmasking of everyone and the awarding of a prize for the best costumes worn by a boy and a girl. Everyone seems to enjoy the evening. Looks as if the Sevens really score a hit.

October 27—Today, Navy Day, is celebrated with an Aud. session, also in honor of Theodore Roosevelt's birthday. Miss Hilb directs the Carol Club in several numbers, Bob Carroll gives speech on the Navy; Coach Rost tells about the football team and the game tomorrow; and Mr. Hill speaks on better conduct at the games, after which he introduces three former Roosevelians now in the Navy, including Norman Ullrich, the mayor of last term.

October 28—The Roosevelt football team once again has shown its strength by tying the powerful McKinley team. Although we were hoping we could win, we are not thoroughly dissatisfied. McKinley is one of the strongest teams, and we think that by showing against McKinley, we shall still be able to win the championship.

October 31—Attention, all Sevens! After school today, in Room 301, we are having a meeting. Our buttons have arrived and will be issued at that time. Please be there if possible.

November 1—Election day here at dear old Roosevelt High. Not a real one, of course, but a "straw vote". This shows how we would vote if we were over twenty-one. Much to the Republicans' dismay, President Roosevelt is given a two-to-one majority over his opponent, Thomas E. Dewey, and wins the election.

November 2—The officers of the Eights and the officers of the various committees meet with Miss Wade after school.

November 3—We are all taken out of the present, and into the past days of no worry of rationing and shortage by the educational film about the eighteenth century life in Williamsburg, Virginia. Everyone at the Aud. enjoys the film but, "Why did they have to show it just before lunch?" Those waffles and bacon and eggs were really mouth-watering. We appreciate the showing of this film by Miss Cutter's operators, and are looking forward to seeing more in the future.

November 4—Our Roosevelt Rough Riders, for the first time this season, go down in defeat in a league game. The always powerful Beaumont wins, and the final score is: Beaumont 14, and Roosevelt 7. All loyal Rooseveltians hate this loss. Roosevelt's chances for this year's title are now very dim, but with our team's doing its part, and with our doing ours, we still can end with a fine showing.

November 8—Once again, parents, patrons, and friends of Roosevelt are invited to attend Open House at 7:30 P. M. At this time the visitors are given an opportunity to see Roosevelt in action. From 7:30 until 8:15, the visitors circulate throughout the building, meeting the teachers and seeing exhibitions of class work in many rooms. At 8:15 the parents, teachers, and friends go to the Aud. where they are entertained by the orchestra, choir, drill corps, Spanish class, and girls' and boys' gymnastic groups. All seem happy as they make their way down the steps and I'm sure everyone will remember this night for a long time.

Questions of "What is the Aud. about, do you know?" are buzzing around the corridors. It proves to be two very interesting and timely movies: one on the migration of birds of the United States, and the other one on what is being done in the way of education in Latin America.

Proud of 'em? You bet we're proud of our new swing band, and who wouldn't be? At least that's what we surmise from the applause they are showered with in the Aud. today. Let's hope they keep their standards up.

November 9—The Seniors meet after school today and among other things, plan a wiener roast for Thursday, November 16. This wiener roast is to take place in Carondelet Park after school.

Roosevelt triumphs again on the gridiron! This time it's Central that fails to score against our fighting eleven. The Rough Riders play in wonderful style; Fledderman, Hummel, Miller, and Mandel help bring victory by their runs. Rousing school spirit prevails throughout the game and reaches its climax when the game ends with the score, 26 to 0, favoring the Rough Riders. With a possible victory from Soldan in view next week, Roosevelt should finish the season with a fine league standing!

November 10—Seniors go to Room 316 today to pay $0.25 for the wiener roast to be held Thursday, November 16, in Carondelet Park.

Stamp and bond sales are very good this week. The total to date is $17,392.35. Keep it up! Do your part in helping the boys "over there."

November 11—Under the auspices of the St. Louis Council of Parents and Teachers, five students of Roosevelt present a program over WIL at 2:15 P. M. The script, entitled "Education for New Tasks," was written and presented by Bill Butler, Lois Neulist, Herbert Richter, Alice Willenburg, and Bill Forster.

November 13—Here we are again. We start the second half of the term this morning? Oh! when will it ever be over?

Mask and Buskin meets after school today in Room 233. All students who would like to try out are asked to come. Final try-outs will be held Tuesday, November 28. Hurry!

Freshmen boys interested in trying out for Christmas play see Miss Grace in 233 the first period.

November 14—Two films, "Finding Your Life Work," and "Nursing," are shown the first period to all Problems of Living groups.

College club meeting at close of school today to plan social.

November 15—Christmas stockings for service are started today. Come on, give! They need your help.

Sixes, Sevens, and Eights are invited to visit business companies to see how they are conducted.

November 16—Proposed amendment in Student Council: Shall we give Scholarship R's to pupils with all E's if they take only three full credit subjects and two half-credit subjects? That is the question.

Senior wiener roast is a huge success. The wiener is preceded by a scavenger hunt. Some fun!

November 17—Well, an Aud., and a long one, too! All for the Sixth War Loan Drive. Come on. Let's go, America! This Aud. is the most touching session that Roosevelt has had for some time. It is made so by the stirring speech by Robert E. Heany, B. M. 1/c, of the Navy. B. M. Heaney related the strife and struggle of the battle of Lunza Point and the first raid on Palau Island. He told all assembled just what was happening to our fighting men and he didn't use any sugar coating. B. M. Heaney received the Purple Heart and was wounded on Palau. Veteran of fifteen major battles, he has had almost all foreign service since 1938 and has been in combat thirty-two months on a heavy cruiser's battle station. He related some of the drastic fates of our boys, and of their need of equipment, which can be obtained only by our purchases of War Bonds and Stamps. We think that no one can go back to his advisory without making this purchase. The soldiers are giving their lives. Let's back them up, Roosevelt. Show your fighting spirit, too.

Roosevelt's football team is winding up its season. We beat Soldan, 33 to 6! That means we tie McKinley for second place.

November 20—Sixth War Loan Drive opens today with a bang. That just goes to show you that we CAN do something to help!

November 21—Regular Basketball practice starts today.

Comprehensive Reviews to start Monday! Oh, woe is me, woe is me!

November 22—Thanksgiving turkey dinner sold in lunchroom today for $0.15. Oh, yum, yum! Think of the calories, girls!

513 Arcade Building for rings and pins, Sevens!

November 23—Holiday!!! Thanksgiving, and are we going to eat!

November 24—Holiday!!! Again? I must be delirious. Heavenly! Wonderful! Why don't we do this more often?

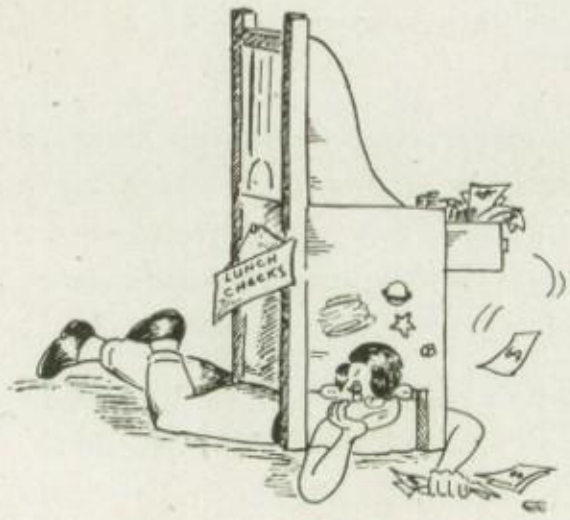
November 27—Back again. Comprehensive Reviews start today, pleasant thought. We stand bravely, facing our defeat. Martyrs to our cause. Periods 1 and 7, here we come!

November 28—Periods 2 and 6 today. Man! Such is life.

If, and we do mean if, you are one of those fortunates who make all E's and G's, and only one little ole' M, you can work for two days before Christmas. Oh, yes, you have to be sixteen, too.

November 29—Christmas stockings purchased in Room 232 for five cents each. Fill 'em up!

Seniors to be measured Friday for caps and gowns.



AN UNSUNG HERO

One-way traffic proposed in boys' lunchroom! Do we need it!

November 30—Meeting of seniors for program planning today.

December 1—Once again the students of Roosevelt are going to be happy. Why? Well, because November 30 and December 1 are "Hello Days" at school. Everyone is able to satisfy his curiosity by finding out the name of that cute blonde in his study hall or that tall, curly-headed fellow whom she always sees ambling up and down the halls in the mornings. There is also a dance after school for those who show their Hello Day tags.

The season basketball tickets went on sale last week. This pass is good for a total of twenty-eight games, all of which are played at the St. Louis U. gym. Seven of these games will be played by our Rough Riders. The tickets are only one dollar, that is just a little under four cents per game.

You can't get a bargain like that every day. You may get your pass in Room 123 or from your Student Council representative. Buy a season ticket and support your team.

December 4—Ouch! This is the beginning of the fourteenth week. The comprehensives are all over. But tomorrow—tomorrow is the fateful day. The results of last week's comprehensives are going to be jotted down on report cards.

A new Roosevelt sticker has been designed. It has the Rough Rider in white, gold, and red. The word "Roosevelt," is printed across the emblem. The words, "Rough Riders," are written below the bucking horse. Below that is printed, "St. Louis, Mo." The size of the emblem is four inches by three inches. This is by far the best design for a sticker that is used by any of the St. Louis high schools. It can be used on your note books, or on your car windshield, or in any number of other places. The stickers are for sale in the gym office at the small price of ten cents.

December 5—Judgment day is here. All the doubtful pupils are wearing their saddest faces, while a few "brains" are bouncing around these gloomy halls with a superior smile upon their faces. Everyone has made up his mind to strive for all "E's". Let's try to make our Roosevelt boys who are fighting in the four corners of the world as proud of us we are proud of them.

December 6—All the advisories have been busy this week wrapping and filling Christmas stockings for service men. We hope the boys who receive these stockings will have as much pleasure out of receiving them as we all had filling them.

December 7—Once again the famed St. Louis Symphony Orchestra conducted by Vladimir Golschman visits Roosevelt High School. This concert is one of a series of high school concerts sponsored by the St. Louis Board of Education. Almost all Roosevelt students attend; student-visitors from McKinley High and Harris Teachers' College also enjoy the music.

December 11—It snows, but the faithful members of the Bwana Staff tramp through ice and snow to attend the meeting.

December 12—This evening Miss Hilb's music classes give a musical program for the Parent-Teachers' Association in Room 301. Hats off to Miss Hilb!

December 13—They are back again, our friends the "If-I-Pass, If-I-Fail" lists. Why is it that everytime we sign these lists we have a strange feeling in our stomachs?

The Women's Auxiliary to the Missouri Medical Association is sponsoring its thirteenth annual essay contest for high school students. The subject of this contest is "New Medical Discoveries and Their Values to Future Health."

In addition to the three prizes—War Bonds valued at $25, $50, and $100—ten esays will receive honorable mention and any may be used for reference purposes. They will be judged on originality, composition, and research.

College Club holds an open meeting today after school. Everyone is invited to attend; it will be great fun.

The attractive and colorful Christmas stockings for service men are on exhibit in the halls for everyone to inspect. They draw admiring glances from all passers-by.

Have you seen the double page drawings in our book this year? They are by Bob East. He explains to us that they are to represent characters from fiction. Old friends and new whom we know from Alice in Wonderland on up to King Arthur are pictured.

December 14—The Senior class has gone "all out" for the Sugar Plum Prom. Where on earth did they get all the points for so much sweetness? Even Santa will be at the prom and this will be a treat for all. Wonder what he will bring?

The Missouri Public Expenditure Survey is conducting an essay contest on the subject, "Why Should Missouri's Proposed New Constitution Be Adopted?" This contest is open to all high school students who attend either public, parochial or private schools.

A brochure, "Constitution Making in Missouri," was published by the M. S. T. A. and has been placed in the library for the use of the essay writers.

Social studies and English teachers have been given "The Court System" of the New Constitution issued by the Governmental Research Institute to aid prospective essay contestants.

December 15—Drivers of cars which may be parked near the school should file their license numbers in the office. This is meant as a convenience to the car owners.

December 16—Hurrah! Hurrah! There goes that ball! It's a basketball game between Roosevelt and McBride. Let's go all out to support our team and speed them on to victory.

December 19—Dr. E. Standley Jones is here for an Auditorium session, and everyone is interested in his talk. We hope that you will visit us again, Dr. Jones.

December 20—Spanish Club fiesta.

December 21—Another year is passing, and it is time to nominate a new mayor. Everyone is very anxious to see who will be our next mayor. Whoever he may be, we wish him lots of luck in his term of office.

Dear old Roosevelt is all decked out in the Christmas way and has taken on the spirit of the holiday festivities. The whole school will be treated to an auditorium session presented by Miss Hilb's music classes and Miss Grace's dramatic classes. The carolers will march through the halls singing Christmas carols, and everyone will have an inner glow of warmth in his heart. At last the holidays are here!

December 24—The Fourth Period Choir will sing at Scott Field today. The service men are really in for a treat. The A Period Choir will sing at the U. S. O. in Kiel Auditorium.

January 2—Happy New Year one and all! What will the New Year have in store for us? Let us try to make it a happy one for everyone.

January 17—They are small, sweet, and green. What are they? Why, the grade school graduates who will be our January freshmen. Let's hope that their stay with us will be pleasant.

Special! The long-awaited Senior edition of the Rough Rider comes out. It is a big occasion for every pupil at Roosevelt.

January 19—At last the big day has arrived, one of the biggest events in a Senior's life, the Senior Aud. Session. We are sorry to lose so much talent. Thank you, Seniors, this day will be long remembered by all.

January 24—It's the day of the Senior Class day. The whole class will eat luncheon at the Hotel Jefferson. They will also spend the afternoon dancing at the hotel. Aren't Seniors lucky?

January 25—It's here! The four-year climb to the top is over, and all the Seniors feel a little sad because they've reached their goal. Joy and tears are combined. Did we ever think we would regret leaving Roosevelt? The past four years are happy memories.

Seniors, the rest of us wish you joy and success in your undertakings.

THE SONG OF THE ROUGH RIDERS

Raise your cheers for Roosevelt High,
Shout till the grandstands ring.
Cheer for our dear school once again,
Let every loyal rooter sing,
Cheer for Rough Rider Band,
Cheer for our football team,
Cheer for our dear Alma Mater,
The High School that we all esteem
To the school—To the team
To the coaches that make them victorious
To the red—To the white
To the colors we know are so glorious
To the boys—To the girls
So full of good spirit and loyalty
In the stands—On the field
Fine sportsmen we always will be.

So—Raise your cheers for Roosevelt High,
Shout till the grandstands ring,
Cheer for our dear school once again,
Let every loyal rooter sing!
Then show that spirit strong and true,
And cheer for this splendid game;
Cheer for our dear Alma Mater,
And for our boys who bring us fame.

THE SYMPHONY AT ROOSEVELT

A musical treat of exceptional quality was presented at Roosevelt on December 7. The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Vladimir Golschmann, rendered a varied program which was enthusiastically received.

The manner in which the concert was accepted is definite proof that the youth of America can, and does, appreciate the world's musical classics. Of course, as would be expected, the rendition of the "Surrey with the Fringe on Top" received a tremendous ovation.

After half of the musical selections were given, an interesting side-light was interjected as the conductor introduced a member of each section of the orchestra as a soloist.

It is sincerely hoped that the St. Louis Board of Education will soon bring this exceptional symphony orchestra back to Roosevelt. The program is listed below:
